Michael Moran Quits After 49 Years On Same Railroad

C. & O. Conductor, Oldest Employe in Point of Years, Retires Today.

By BOB BYRD

MICHAEL MORAN of 866 South Prospect street retired today after rounding out 49 years of work for the same railroad line.

Steel strikes played the accompaniment for both the beginning and the end of his railroad career. As he took note of today's steel strikes in Pennsylvania, he recalled that a steel strike in the same state 50 years ago was responsible for his coming to Marion and later taking a railroad job.

The name of the railroad company employing Mr. Moran has been changed four times since he began work. Now the Chesapeake & Ohio, it formerly was the Hocking Valley, the Columbus Hocking Valley & Toledo and, first, the Columbus & Toledo road.

Mr. Moran at different times worked as brakeman, yard conductor and yard master. His last position has been that of yard conductor.

A strike in a muck iron factory (steel mills didn't come along until later) threw Mr. Moran out of work when, as a young man, he was living in Allegheny City, Pa. Instead of waiting for the strike to end Mr. Moran came to Marion to visit relatives and seek work.

Took Job As Brakeman

He first found employment in what was then the John Evans quarry and later took a job as brakeman for what was then the Columbus & Toledo railroad.

Railroading in those days was far different from modern rail transportation, Mr. Moran recalls. At that time the cars were of 12-ton capacity and 25 of them made up a large train. Today, the cars hold as much as 100 tons and it is not unusual for 160 to make up a train one and one-half miles long.

"You could almost put one of the locomotives we used in those days in the firebox of one of the big modern ones," Mr. Moran said.

The brakeman's job, in the days before air brakes, used to include setting hand brakes on five to seven cars in order to bring a train to a stop, Mr. Moran said.

Mr. Moran's 49-year record has seldom been dotted with time off for injuries or sickness. He lost part of one of the fingers of his right hand in a train coupling mishap, and has been off work a total of approximately three months because of illness.

Oldest C. & O. Employe

He has been the oldest C. & O. railroad employe in Marion in point of years. He is 72 years of age and will be 73 in August.

Mr. Moran's plans for the immediate future are to rest. He and Mrs. Moran, formerly Miss Mary Ellen Jenkins of Shenandoah, Pa., were married on Thanksgiving day of 1898 in St. Mary Catholic church in Marion. Their wedding was the first solemnized in the new church.

Their oldest son, Francis Moran, followed in his father's footsteps and became a railroad brakeman. He was killed while working in the local Erie yards 20 years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Moran are parents of one daughter, Mrs. Kelley R. Vance of 241 Uller avenue, and two sons, Vincent of Peoria, Ill., and Edward of California.

Mr. Moran is one of 14 children born to William Moran and Bridget Cusic, both natives of Ireland. He was born at Rush Run, Jefferson county, across the Ohio river from Wheeling, W. Va. He is a member of St. Mary church, Holy Name society, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the Hocking Valley Veterans' association.

YOUTH COUNCIL MEETING ENDS

Resolutions Hit Gambling, Lotteries, Alcohol and Narcotics.

AWARDS DISTRIBUTED

Cleveland Girl Wins Oratory Medal; Marion Highest in Membership.

Awarding of the pearl medal to Miss Lois Quiggin of Cleveland in a declamatory contest last night and selection of Cambridge for the 1938 convention, adoption of resolutions opposing lotteries and gambling, recommending placing of a secretary of peace in the nation's cabinet and distribution of awards this morning, brought the 1937 convention of the Ohio Youth Temperance Council to a close at noon today. The convention which opened Tuesday was held at Epworth M. E. church.

The Marion council, of which Miss Elizabeth Jeffrey is president, shared in the distribution of the awards, winning for the second time the loving cup for having the largest council in the state organization. The Marion council organized in March of 1935, has a membership of 145. A silver cup was presented the Coshocton council for having made the largest gain in membership, and Dayton was awarded a cup in recognition of its soldiers and sailors' work. The presentations were made by Miss Mabel Edgerton of Barnesville, recording secretary.

Miss Jeffrey and Mrs. Laura Imbody, president of the Marion County W. C. T. U., were presented life memberships in the Ohio Youth Temperance Council in recognition of their work.

Pledges Renewed

The members renewed their pledge for total abstinence from alcohol and other narcotics including tobacco and from profanity, in the resolutions, which were unanimously adopted. The group also opposed legislating of lotteries and all forms of gambling including bank nights in motion picture theaters, believing it to be detrimental to the best interests of society, and recommended arbitration as the best way to friendly understanding among individuals and nations in their dealings with each other.

The resolutions urged members to inform themselves and others of the danger of the marijuana drug which is becoming a national menace," and to redouble their efforts to promote temperance instruction in order that young people may realize the effect of beverage alcohol and other narcotics on the physical, social and economic life."

To Seek National Honor

Miss Quiggin, winner of the pearl medal, will enter the diamond medal contest which will be national in scope. Her subject was "The Garden of Memories." Judges were Mrs. Carrie White of Warren, Mrs. Charles Sheppard of Cambridge, and Rev. Harry Deeds, pastor of Greenwood Evangelical church. Miss Helen L. Byrnes, national secretary of Evanston, Ill., presented the medal, and also gave talk on "Elevated Living." Miss Maye Evangeline Lawrence of Marion played an organ prelude and other music included a whistling solo by Mrs. Helen Hanning and a vocal duet by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Donovan. Rev. L. A. Wood, pastor of Trinity Baptist church, spoke the benediction.

Music for the session yesterday afternoon included a vocal solo by Mrs. A. L. Wood and the program included discussions on council work. A social feature was an amateur hour and Japanese tea at Trinity Baptist church following the close of the session.

NON-STRIKER'S HOME BOMBED IN CANTON

Dynamite Charge Tears Away Porch and Breaks All Windows.

By The Associated Press
CANTON, O., July 2 — Dynamite exploded early today at the home of a non-striking Republic Steel Corp. employe.

It tore the back porch from the frame house, blew out all windows and shattered those of adjoining houses. None was injured.

The blast was at the home of Matt Perlesh, reported to have stayed at his post in Republic's United Alloy plant since the strike started here May 26, leaving yesterday morning for the first time.

Perlesh's wife was in front of the house when the blast occurred, and her husband was at work.

Mrs. Perlesh told police she saw the man who planted the explosive under the back porch. She and two neighbors said another man, acting as a lookout, fired several shots into the air from his post at the nearby 19th and Superior streets intersection, evidently as a warning that people were nearby.

$100 LOOT STOLEN FROM AUTOMOBILE

An automobile radio, seat covers, blanket and fishing equipment valued at about $100 was taken from an automobile belonging to Walter Snyder of 569 Blaine avenue last night, according to a report to police. The car, police were told, was parked in an unlocked garage. It was thought the car had been locked, but police could not determine how entrance had been gained.

JAPAN CHARGES RUSSIA WITH NEW INVASION

Manchoukuo Tense as Border Clashes Take on Threat of War.

OFFER TROOP WITHDRAWAL

Sand Pit Islands on Amur River Scene of Serious International Clash.

By The Associated Press
TOKYO, July 2—Official Japan charged a new invasion of Manchoukuoan territory by Russian planes and gunboats today insisted it had no "armed forces" on disputed Amur river islands and put the question of future location of Japanese troops in the border trouble area up to "the supreme army command."

Anxiety mounted for a missing Manchoukuoan steamer in the danger zone.

Army officials said "the question of evacuation of the islands as raised by the Soviet government does not exist" that only peaceful fishermen, lighthouse and beaconkeepers now occupy" the disputed sandpits, which the Japanese say belong to Manchoukuo.

In Hsinking, the capital of Manchoukuo, authorities were reported to have begun an immediate discussion of forcible means to cope with the grave situation.

An electric atmosphere was said to prevail throughout all Manchoukuo as a result of the whirlwind developments of the last few hours.

The statement that solution of the crisis law with the army came as an answer to Russian proposals to withdraw her troops from the disputed Amur area if Japan would do likewise.

Asked if the forces of Japan and her Manchoukuoan allies were ready to withdraw, government officials answered tersely:

"That is a matter for the supreme command to decide."

Dispatches from Hsinking charged Russia, instead of withdrawing her troops again invaded Manchoukuoan territory at 3 p. m. Thursday, when three Soviet airplanes flew low over Sunz ufo island, in the Amur river, and disappeared in an unidentified direction.

Simultaneously, army spokesmen declared, five Soviet gunboats invaded Manchoukuoan waters near the scene of the naval battle Wednesday which brought the long brewing border trouble to a boil.

Fire on Soldiers

Japan charged Soviet gunboats climaxed a series of 185 illegal invasions Wednesday by opening fire on Japanese and Manchoukuoan soldiers bathing in the river. Japanese artillery immediately went into action, the army claimed, sank one warship, disabled another and forced a third to flee.

The Japanese envoy to Moscow immediately protested only to be met with counter protests that Japanese guns had opened fire on the Russian river fleet without provocation.

Despite three hours of negotiations yesterday between envoys of the two countries, the situation was considered here to be deadlocked. Officials frankly regard it as critical.

Anxiety was expressed for the safety of the Manchoukuoan steamer Hsingkai, which sailed from Hulin on the Usuri river toward the Amur on the day of the clash between Soviet gunboats and Japanese-Manchoukuoan forces. The vessel arrived at the junction of the two rivers that evening but had not since been reported.

FARMERS HIRE MEN FOR WHEAT CUTTING

Marion Employment Bureau Supplies First Workers in Preparation for Harvest.

Between 50 and 75 requests for farm hands for the wheat cutting season have been filled at the office of the Marion branch of the Ohio State Employment Service in the Citizens' building on West Center street in the last few days, Fred B. Scherff, manager, said today.

Despite the fact that rain and high water have soaked the ground and delayed the annual harvest work, the demand for workers is expected to increase within the next few days, Mr. Scherff said. At present the demand is considerably below what it was at this time last year.

Thus far the office has been able to fill all requests for hands, but whether it will be possible in the next two weeks is a matter of doubt, Mr. Scherff said.

FIRST AID STATION GOES IN AT "SUICIDE CROSSING"

Red Cross Chapter Provides Protection at County's "Most Dangerous Intersection."

The Marion chapter of the American Red Cross will open a highway first aid station this evening at "suicide crossing," the junction of state routes 95 and 98 five miles east of Marion, labeled by county authorities as the most dangerous intersection in the county.

Sheriff Fred F. Miller and state highway patrolmen have issued repeated warnings to motorists about the hazardous crossing.

Officials of the Red Cross chapter will open the first aid station at 6:30 p. m. with Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Vermillion, who operate a service station at the crossing, taking over the station. Both have taken a course of first aid training from Red Cross instructors and have been qualified to administer first aid.

Mr. and Mrs. Vermillion will be furnished a 24-unit first aid kit, including a half-ring splint for use on leg fractures. They also will have a list of telephone numbers of physicians, ambulances and the highway patrol posted on a wall near their telephone to speed calls for help in case of an accident there.

Four highway signs calling attention of motorists to the location of the station were to be erected at the approaches of the intersection this afternoon.

The "suicide crossing" station is the fourth opened in the county this year by the Red Cross at traffic danger spots in the county. Others and the dates they were opened are Waldo, March 25; Brush Ridge, April 28; and Prospect, May 13.

Red Cross chapter officials to take part in the establishment of the station tonight are T. D. Bain, in charge of highway first aid stations, Boyd Titsworth, and Miss Lillian Plack, chapter secretary.

ANOTHER OHIO STRIKE CLOSED PLANT OPENS

Playground Tag Day Arranged for Saturday

Funds Will Go for Summer Program for Children at Parks.

As arrangements took form for Saturday's tag day to raise funds for equipment needed in the Y. M. C. A. summer playground program, Y leaders announced the assignment of junior recreation leaders who will direct the play of boys and girls of Marion when the playgrounds open Tuesday for the season.

Clarence Lenz, boys work secretary at the Y, emphasized that the extent to which the playground program can be developed will be determined largely by public response to Saturday's tag day pointing out that this is the only source of funds for materials and equipment needed in planning a summertime program of games handicraft and contests.

Playgrounds will be maintained at McKinley and Lincoln parks and at the Marion Steam Shovel athletic field on Uncapher avenue throughout the summer with leaders on the job five days a week from 9 to 11:30 a. m. and 1 to 4:30 p. m. There will be no Saturday playground sessions. It is hoped that the roster of NYA and WPA leaders available for playgrounds will be increased later to permit establishment of a playground at Garfield park.

The three playgrounds to be opened Tuesday and the leaders assigned to each are as follows:

Steam Shovel field—Charles Caprino supervisor, Don Cramer, Martha Huntsman, Victor Auxenbaugh, Joe Stafford, Helen Sturgeon, Anne Nicolosi, Juanita White and Elizabeth Fox.

Lincoln park—William Woessner, supervisor, Harold Bill, Dorothia Hunt, Woodrow Hartley, Harold Gantt, Nettie Blair, Christine Ralston, Elaine Hacela and Twila Shrock.

McKinley park—Mrs. Ruth Blair, supervisor, Ulen Putman, Mrs. Vida Bevis, Robert Williamson, Leroy Emery, Mildred Hanby, Mary Murray and Margaret Dye.

Mr. Lenz said the NYA workers among the leaders are permitted to work only 23 hours each two weeks, with the result that a fairly large number of workers is required at each playground to handle the program in shifts.

STEEL WORKERS RETURN TO INLAND PLANT

More than 1200 workers returned to their jobs at the Inland Steel Co. plant in Indiana Harbor, Ind., as the result of a truce' arrangement engineered by Gov. M. Clifford Townsend of Indiana. Part of the men who had been out of the plant since late in May are shown here joyfully re-entering the mill. (Associated Press photo).

INDIANA MILLS READY

CIO Leader Calls for Elections in Ohio Valley Area.

By The Associated Press
MASSILLON, O., July 2—Under bayonet protection, more strike-locked steel mills opened here today while rival camps of Youngstown Sheet & Tube employes were stirred by reports of new plans to reopen plants at Indiana Harbor, Ind.

Del Tillmood, secretary of the Association of Steel Employes, an independent union opposed to the CIO strike, said he expected some definite word about reopening the Indiana Harbor mills within a few hours.

CIO strike leaders immediately sent out a general call for pickets to resist the move. Spotters were stationed along the Lake Michigan shore to "spread the alarm" at the first indication of non-strikers moving back into the mills.

The Indiana Harbor plant normally employs about 7,000 men.

Philip Murray, chairman of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee spurred legal steps to wring signed contracts from independent steel producers—the chief point in dispute in the whole 7-state strike area.

Asks for Election

On behalf of the SWOC, Murray filed petitions with the national labor relations board at Pittsburgh requesting collective bargaining elections among employes at all plants of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, and the Weirton Steel company.

"An overwhelming majority of the employes of these companies have already authorized the SWOC to represent them for collective bargaining purposes," Murray said.

"An election held under the auspices of the national labor relations board will prove beyond a shadow of a doubt the claims of representations made by the SWOC."

In Washington, John Riffe, strike leader, told the senate civil liberties committee, investigating the Chicago Memorial day riot, that demonstrators near the Republic Steel plant had no intention of entering the mill.

Previously, Chicago police had testified that they fired on the crowd, killing ten and wounding scores because they feared the marchers intended to raid the plant "and kill 200 or 300 men inside."

No Violence

The back-to-work movement in Massillon was carried out without violence.

Gates of the concern's Central Steel division swung open, under protection of steel-helmeted national guardsmen, for the first time since the strike started May 27.

Non-strikers in about 115 automobiles, quietly drove inside. About 200 pickets booed and jeered but were kept away from the plant by the troops.

Some foremen and office workers also were sent in. Republic's Union drawn steel division.

The reopening left Cleveland the only city where Republic's sprawling mills are completely closed. Reopening of the four Cleveland units is expected next week.

Republic ignored a CIO picket captain's briefing theft.

"If they try to open this plant, they are in for a damned bloody fight."

Back To Work Gains

Back-to-work was the music trampling feet were drumming all along the strike front—from Johnstown, Pa. to the western terminus of the Indiana-Illinois Calumet area.

But the strike, with its record of

Bandits Strip $100,000 in Gems From Woman

Robbery Staged as Victim and Escort Alight from Auto at Apartment.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, July 2—A quartet of jewel thieves invaded fashionable Beekman Place early today and at gunpoint stripped a society matron of jewelry valued at $100,000.

The robbery occurred only a few doors from the apartment house where Mrs. Nancy Titterton, victim of last year's sensational bath tub murder, was strangled.

Mrs. Josephine Ogden Forrestal, socially prominent victim of Manhattan's latest jewel robbery, told police the bandits took two platinum bracelets set with diamonds, and two platinum rings.

"They did not take anything from her escort, Richard B. W. Hall, a broker, overlooking $700 he had in his pocket.

As Mrs. Forrestal and Hall arrived at the entrance of her apartment in Hall's chauffeured limousine, and alighted, the bandit car drove up, they related. Before Frederick Tucker, the chauffeur, could open the car door for Mrs. Forrestal, one of the robbers stuck a gun against his side saying: "What's your hurry, Buddy?"

Another bandit climbed into the car and pulled the bracelets from Mrs. Forrestal's arms and the rings from her fingers. The other two robbers stood on the opposite side of the car.

Two men in another car drove up then and muttered to one of the robbers:

"Hurry up, Joe."

The bandits then fled in their car, later found abandoned nearby, a fender dented.

Police said they believe the robbers were the same ones who several months ago took a quantity of jewelry from Gypsy Rose Lee, actress.

MARION WATER RATE HEARING SCHEDULED

State Commission Sets July 20 for Resumption of Arguments and Testimony.

The state utilities commission yesterday fixed July 20 as the date for resuming its hearing of the Marion water rate controversy.

Notice of the date was received today by City Solicitor Ralph E. Carhart.

When the hearing is resumed, the commission will have before it the report of its engineers who made an appraisal of the property of the company for rate making purposes and fixed its value at $1,377,675.0% or $163,560.24 less than the commission on their company's the valuation claimed by the company. The commission's engineers figure is roughly midway between the extremes of three possible book valuations placed on the property by E. W. Wood, certified public accountant employed by the city. His figures ranged from $1,148,676 to $1,510,690 depending on the value of the company's common stock.

The first rounds of the hearing were held on May 11 and 12, and the commission adjourned proceedings at that time to give its engineers time to make the appraisal after learning the city had not obtained an appraisal to rebut the valuation figures and operating cost records of the water company.

The water controversy is before the commission on the company's appeal from a 12½ per cent rate reduction proposed by city council.

SPAIN PATROL PLAN REJECTED

Germany and Italy Turn Down Proposal of England and France.

SUBSTITUTE IS OFFERED

Would Grant Warring Factions in Civil War Belligerent Rights.

By The Associated Press
LONDON, July 2—Germany and Italy today formally rejected an Anglo-French proposal for taking over the entire international non-intervention patrol of Spain's coasts and offered counter-proposals.

The two nations which have recalled warships from the Spanish patrol, proposed that belligerent rights be accorded both the Spanish government and the regime of Insurgent General Francisco Franco.

Both Germany and Italy stated they were "resolved to maintain the principle of non-intervention."

It was a shock than that resulted in no immediate break. Soviet Russia took sides with Britain and France. The Soviet ambassador, Ivan M. Maisky, was reported "pleased" at what he considered a firm stand by Britain and France in the face of the Italo-German demands for abandonment of the naval patrol and the granting of belligerent rights to both Spanish sides.

The German-Italian counter-proposals said:

"The two governments are conscious of the real difficulties of the situation and think that all the more their duty to all is to seek new ways and methods to make non-intervention as effective as possible."

The two powers then proposed that "all interested powers agree to grant to the two parties in Spain belligerent rights."

A number of arguments were presented in behalf of the suggestion.

Germany and Italy declared that "the patrol system by four powers has utterly failed" and that the two combatants in Spain, with their own ships and acting with belligerent rights, could establish "an effective form of patrol."

They pointed out that by receiving a status under international rules of war, the warring sides would "assume towards neutral states full responsibility for the conduct of warfare in the air, on land and on the sea."

In the face of non-agreement for the time being on the Italo-German counter-proposals, France and Britain were reported to have formulated a firm stand that might lead even to abandonment of the whole scheme for isolating Spain from men and arms.

The non-intervention subcommit-

JAILED ON CHARGE OF DRUNKEN DRIVING

Forest L. Anderson, 52, of 262 Waterloo street, changed a former plea to guilty in municipal court yesterday on a charge of drunken driving. He was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail, fined $100 and costs and his driving rights were revoked for six months by Municipal Judge Martin.

Anderson was arrested by police Wednesday night about 10 o'clock, after a car he was allegedly driving struck a street barricade on West Center street. The barricade is located at the C. & O. railroad crossing, which is now under repair.

SCOUTS STAGE OPENING SHOW

Harding Area Scouts in First Arena Spectacle at National Jamboree.

Fifteen hundred Boy Scouts from Ohio, including the Harding Area troop, and from surrounding states donned Indian war paint and pioneer costumes last night for their arena show, the first big show of the national scout Jamboree at Washington, D. C., The Associated Press reported today.

Other states in the 1,500 are West Virginia and Kentucky. The 35 boys in the Harding area troops from Marion, Morrow, Crawford and Wyandot counties, were in the midst of the demonstration.

A 200-piece band led the boys to the arena near the Washington monument. There they staged four acts depicting outstanding historic events and activities of the states.

Many of the acts of the pageant were based on Indian warfare; some boys demonstrated pioneer methods of coal mining; others the launching of boats on the Great Lakes, Ohio or Mississippi river.

Most of the boys were touring the Capital today and all were clamoring to be next to take the boat trip to George Washington's home at Mt. Vernon, Va. Chilly weather aided them in their work at the tent city, stretched across the spacious park along the Potomac river in the rear of the Washington monument. Last night many rolls were heard for blankets.

Directing the scouts from this area is Dr. E. S. Chapman of Mt. Gilead as scoutmaster. The boys left Bucyrus Tuesday and will return next week after the close of the Jamboree on July 9.

THREE KILLED, FOUR HURT IN ACCIDENTS

One Automobile Overturns and Another Collides With Bus.

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., July 2 — Three persons were dead and four others in serious condition in hospitals today as the result of two accidents near Dayton.

Earl Barber, 19, of Miamisburg, O., and Donald Zimmerman, 19, of West Carrollton, O., died when an automobile in which they were riding overturned at nearby Germantown hurting two others. They are Edward Thomas, 19, of Franklin, O., whom Highway Patrolman R. C. Noon said was driver and owner of the car, and Roy Cavin, 19, also of West Carrollton. They were taken to a Middletown, O., hospital suffering head and body lacerations.

In an auto-bus accident at nearby Alexandersville on the Dixie highway, Fred Johnson, 22, of Whitfield, O., was fatally hurt, and his brother-in-law, Fred Vickers, 24, of Bellbrook, critically injured.

Sheriff's Deputy Earl Fredericks said Johnson's car collided with a southbound bus when he swerved it to make a right turn from the highway. He said passengers on the bus, driven by W. Lahrov of Detroit, escaped injury.

Johnson and his brother-in-law, Fredericks said, suffered fractured skulls and other injuries. They were taken to a Dayton hospital.

The dead youths, Noon said, were riding in the rumble seat of the Thomas car.

He said he was told the car skidded and Thomas lost control.

SIXTH MAN ARRESTED IN STEEL BLASTS

Charles Byers Faces Charge at Warren In Bombing.

By The Associated Press

WARREN, O., July 2—Chief of Police B. J. Gillen, announced today the arrest of Charles Byers, 32, the sixth man held on charges of a bombing plot directed at Republic Steel in Warren. Byers was to be arraigned before Municipal Judge Ralph Speak later in the day. His bond was fixed at $25,000.

Others held are Gus Hall, CIO organizer for the Warren-Niles district, Arthur Scott, John Borawic, George Bundas, and Sidney Watkins, a Negro.

Byers was owner of the automobile damaged in an explosion on the South Main street bridge here last week. Gillen said Byers' car was used to haul nitro-glycerine bombs to various points around Republic property designated by Hall.

124,000 WORKERS TAKEN FROM WPA

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 2—Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator, announced today WPA cut off more than 124,000 workers in the two weeks ending June 26. The action reduced the number of persons employed to 1,821,151.

The reduction is in line with Hopkins' intention to trim the rolls to 1,665,477 by July 15.

The number of persons working on June 26 included 90,000 in Ohio.

MEXICAN DELEGATE ATTACKS AMERICA

By The Associated Press

WARSAW, Poland, July 2—Alexandro Carrillo, Mexican delegate to the international federation of trade unions congress, charged today that the United States for 25 years has "supported internal turmoil in Mexico to further its own selfish and imperialistic continent," he said.

Carrillo's attack came after the executive committee had adopted a resolution expressing solidarity with "democratic Spain" and urging all members of the League of Nations to take immediate action in order to save world peace.

CIO CHIEF ACCUSED IN BOMBING

Claiming that the whole affair was a "Republic frameup," Gus Hall, CIO organizer sought in connection with the bombing of the Republic steel plant at Warren, O., gave himself up. Hall was named by three others charged with having taken part in the plot as the ringleader. He is shown here in the center on his way to the police station, accompanied by a police officer, right, and Leo Pressman, left, CIO counsel.

Alan Kline, 24, Learning Business, To Direct Affairs Here During Manager's Vacation.

Alan F. Kline, 24-year-old son of one of the founders of the Kline Bros. organization operating 40 department and specialty stores throughout the eastern half of the country, today took over management of the Kline store in Marion as part of a training program in which he is getting first hand experience for an executive position with the company.

Mr. Kline is getting his first experience as a store manager in Marion. He has spent the last 14 months getting first-hand training in 10 different stores in the organization, and has advanced from such jobs as sweeping floors and washing windows through the various departments of the store in preparation for trying his hand at store managership.

Here For Three Months

He plans to serve as manager here during the three-months absence of Harry Dee, who will leave this week-end for a visit with his mother in his native Johannesburg, Africa.

A reporter found him this morning busily typing a business letter. He and Mr. Dee have been spending several days together at the store in preparation for his taking over the duties of manager.

Mr. Kline is the third member of the Kline family actively associated with the organization. The other two are his father, Jacob Kline, and his father's brother, George Kline, who built up the extensive retailing organization from a one-store start in Lorain in 1913. The company now has stores in Ohio, Rhode Island, Georgia, Alabama, Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, New York, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania.

Two years ago Mr. Kline was graduated from Dartmouth, receiving his bachelor of arts degree. After a world trip he plunged into the program to get first-hand information about the operation of Kline stores and has been working steadily since May 1, 1936. He came here from Chicago, the home of his parents and the location of one of the company's three office headquarters.

Interested In Sports

While in Marion he plans to make his residence at Hotel Harding. A six-foot man of athletic build, he went out for soccer and various other sports in college and likes golf.

"There's much to learn to grasp the whole picture of department store operation, and there are hundreds of phases of the business I'll have to learn about," he said. "It will require much study and experience to become familiar with the operations of stores, and after that I hope to learn about buying, accounting and operation of the headquarters offices. What position am I working toward?—I don't know. I just want to learn all I can about the business."

Mr. Kline is an only son. The store he is managing here is among the smaller in the Kline group, some of the metropolitan stores occupying five floors. The group of stores include 32 department stores and eight specialty stores devoted to women's ready-to-wear clothing.

BANK REPORT SHOWS TRADE STILL GAINS

Remains Above 1936 Despite Some Declines in Fourth Reserve District.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., July 2—The federal Reserve bank's monthly report today showed business in the Fourth federal reserve district "still much above 1936" despite some industrial declines in late May and early June.

The bank recorded the early summer slump as slight, however, in actual industrial operations.

"In many cases plants had received sufficient advance orders this spring to enable them to continue at high rates for some time, even though new buying subsided," its review commented.

Payroll indices, advancing faster than employment, were said to have gained in western Pennsylvania and declined slightly in most Ohio communities.

The seasonally adjusted index of retail department store sales was placed at 98 per cent of the 1923-25 average, with a dollar-volume gain of 12 per cent in May and 18 per cent in the first five months of 1937 over the corresponding periods in 1936.

Except in areas affected by strikes, June sales were holding up well.

"The gain in wholesale sales," the report stated, "were smaller than in previous months of 1937, and in dry goods a smaller volume was reported than in May last year.

"Construction activity in May was still ahead of last year by 21 per cent.

SAYS JOINT RETURNS CUTS TAX INCOME

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 2—Roswell Magill, treasury undersecretary, told congressional tax investigators today the government's revenues could be increased approximately $193,000,000 annually if husbands and wives throughout the country were required to pay a single tax on their joint incomes.

Discussing the question of community property, Magill said eight states permitted a husband and wife each to report one half of a family income for tax purposes although all the income may have been earned by only one of them. This division placed their incomes in lower brackets and thus reduced their taxes, he said.

OFFICIAL ATTACKED IN VOTE FRAUD CASE

Defense Attorney Says Kennedy Wants Publicity for Campaign for Governor.

By The Associated Press

IRONTON, O., July 2 — The defense ended its arguments in the vote fraud trial of four prominent Ironton residents today with the assertion that political ambitions of Secretary of State William J. Kennedy motivated charges against the quartet.

L. E. Andrews, co-defense counsel, said that Kennedy was "contemplating running for governor and he wanted the publicity."

Kennedy requested the investigation which led to the indictment of six persons on charges of entering the board of elections office and altering ballots in an alleged attempt to elect a Republican instead of a Democrat to the county commission.

Andrews pleaded that the testimony of Dan C. Rapp, the state's chief witness, had been discredited and that there was a "preponderance of evidence" to show that the four defendants had no connection with the ballot tampering.

Thomas A. Burke Jr., special state prosecutor, was to start his final summation at 1 p. m. Common Pleas Judge Philip H. Wieland of Mt. Gilead said he would take 30 minutes to charge the jury, which was expected to get the case about 3 p. m.

Pearl A. Pratt, Lawrence county auditor; Wade Webb, court bailiff and former deputy sheriff; Elizabeth Griffith, former county relief director, and William C. Dickens, defeated Republican candidate for commissioner, are on trial, accused of scheming to win the election for Dickens by altering ballots after last November's voting.

BUDGET SETTLEMENT STILL IS IN JANGLE

House and Senate Conferences Show Little Progress on Problem.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 2—Conferences intended to settle the state's biennial budget muddle continued to show little result today while the state government functioned on credit and the senate scheduled a perfunctory "skeleton session" for Monday night.

A partial appropriations act of last January expired at midnight Wednesday. A new stop-gap measure passed by the senate cannot go before the house until that body meets again Tuesday night.

House and senate have passed rival two-year appropriations bills, but their conferees have been unable thus far to work out a compromise.

Lieut. Gov. Paul F. Yoder of Eaton, leader of the senate's "no new taxes" groups, said that Gov. Davey was opposed to any change in personnel of the house conference committee.

Yoder said, however, he expected to appoint Senators Emerson Campbell of Belmont county and Bernard R. Donovan of Lucas county to succeed Horace W. Baggott of Montgomery and William R. Fors of Mercer. All are Democrats.

Senators are insisting on rigid state economies, detailed itemization of each departmental budget, and similar items on which the administration disagrees.

By The Associated Press

ATHENS, Tex., July 2—Deputy sheriffs and state highway patrolmen stood armed guard over Henderson county jail today, tense under a dispersed mob's threat that it would be back for a 16-year-old Negro held for attempted attack of a white woman.

Late last night the mob swarmed into the tiny jail lobby, disarmed a deputy—and retreated before Sheriff Jess Sweeten, who unarmed, calmly warned them he would "get rough" if they attempted to take his prisoner.

FEDERAL INCOME EXCEEDS ESTIMATE

Spending Also Goes Above President's Prediction.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 2 — The treasury reported today that tax collections topped President Roosevelt's revised estimates by $69,000,000 during the fiscal year ended Wednesday midnight. Federal spending exceeded his forecast by $221,000,000.

Government receipts for the year were reported at $5,293,849,226, compared with $4,115,966,615 in the previous year.

Expenditures declined, standing at $8,100,188,647 compared with $8,879,795,257 in the previous year.

Income taxes, the government's chief revenue producer, put $2,137,526,981 in the treasury during the 1937 fiscal period just ended, or $52,000,000 more than Mr. Roosevelt's forecast last April.

As of June 30, the public debt totaled $36,424,613,723, compared with $33,778,543,493 on June 30, 1936.

STRIKE RIOT FILM SHOWN AT HEARING

Suppressed News Reel Viewed by Senate Committee in Probe of Disorder.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 2—Senate investigators produced from a battered tin canister today a suppressed newsreel version of Chicago's Memorial day battle between steel strike pickets and police.

Showing the film, which Paramount Pictures had withheld from theaters for fear of causing disorders, followed testimony of policemen and union sympathizers regarding violence near a Republic Steel plant.

Ten persons died and 40 suffered injuries in the clash.

Senator Thomas, Democrat of Utah, who viewed the film at a secret committee showing, said it indicated "extreme brutality" by police "without the slightest provocation from the strikers."

A makeshift screen was spread against the marble walls of the senate caucus chamber for the first showing of motion picture evidence in the history of congressional inquiries.

Chairman La Follette, Progressive of Wisconsin, said Chicago police officials — who steadfastly have maintained the shooting was justified—would be invited to comment on the film's disclosures.

The police account of the battle was at variance with testimony yesterday by Ralph Beck, reporter for the Chicago Daily News who insisted the strikers were trying to establish peaceful picketing, not to storm the Republic plant.

Beck testified the officers were armed with hatchet-handles from the steel mill, and that they had taken their meals in the plant cafeteria for eight or ten days before the encounter. Police had denied both those statements.

AMERICAN WINS IN ENGLISH TENNIS

By The Associated Press

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 2—Don Budge, lanky red-head from Oakland, Calif., today won the all-England singles tennis championship, blasting Germany's Baron Gottfried Von Cramm off the courts in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2.

The American Davis cup star's decisive triumph climaxed a brilliant performance by Budge throughout the famed Wimbledon tournament. Enroute to the title relinquished by Fred Perry, now a professional, Budge dropped only one set and that to his Davis cup teammate, Frankie Parker of Milwaukee.

For Von Cramm it was his second successive trouncing in Wimbledon's final. He lost to Perry last year, 6-1, 6-1, 6-0.

ANOTHER OHIO STRIKE CLOSED PLANT OPENS

13 dead, 250 injured and $30,000,000 cost, was still on.

Republic's Central Steel division normally employs 8,700 men.

State troops proceeded with caution over a viaduct last night, for there had been whisperings of a plot to dynamite it.

Company officials said today that plants in the Youngstown area, normally employing 30,000 men, are "within 1,000 men of normal."

This back-to-work movement—the union insists the companies' estimates are "exaggerated"—has been accomplished without any change in their attitude toward the union. Even Inland Steel, which opened yesterday after CIO leaders had agreed to accept the company's labor policy, insists that the resumption of operations was accomplished without "signing anything with anybody."

The attitude of Inland Steel and of the three corporations involved—Republic, Bethlehem and Youngstown Sheet & Tube—has been that they would sign no bargaining contract with the John L. Lewis union. It was upon that issue that the strike was called.

Youngstown Sheet & Tube said it put 412 men back to work at its South Chicago plant yesterday, quartering them in Pullman cars. Republic's four plants at Cleveland, however, are still "down."

Report Made Public

The report of President Roosevelt's strike mediation board, made public at Washington by Secretary of Labor Perkins, put the blame for that board's failure to effect a settlement on the steel companies.

"We believe," said the report, "that the refusal of the four companies to enter into any agreement with the SWOC (the Steel Workers Organizing Committee) regardless of the number of employes whom it actually represents, which could be demonstrated by a secret ballot election, is not the way of industrial peace."

Secretary Perkins defended the leadership of CIO, headed by John L. Lewis, and thought it was a responsible union. In this she disagrees with Tom Girdler, the outspoken chairman of Republic Steel, who calls CIO "utterly irresponsible."

At Canton, 64 pickets were released outright by police after being arrested as the result of disturbances Wednesday when Republic Steel's Canton mills reopened.

Twenty-three others were freed on bond of $200 each on charges of disorderly conduct. Included were Frank Hardesty, sub-regional director of the CIO and Homer Downward, president of the All-Nations Lodge of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee which called the Canton strike.

On a charge of cutting telephone wires, Nick Woodrich was released on $1,000 bond; the same amount of bond was fixed for Mike John, charged with assault with intent to kill, he is alleged to have thrown rocks at automobiles bearing non-strikers.

Twenty-six others were rounded up by the military and police and held on open charges.

At Indianapolis Gov. Townsend was optimistic that the Youngstown Sheet & Tube would settle the strike at its Indiana plants along the same lines as Inland Steel. "Neither side won," he said.

In East Chicago — the CIO planned a victory celebration today, as Inland steel mills swing into production.

At Johnstown, Pa., the partial repair of bomb-shattered pipeline enabled Bethlehem Steel to resume operations "virtually normal." Only a few pickets were at the plant but the union pushed plans for July 4 rally.

Those who do not appear today will be summoned, court officials said.

GAS CONTROL BILL SENT TO SENATE

Ohio Rate Reductions Seen Possible If Measure Is Finally Enacted.

WASHINGTON, July 2 — House approved legislation intended to supplement state regulation of the natural gas industry was sent to the senate today.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Clarence F. Lea, Democrat of California, passed the house late yesterday without opposition.

It would give the federal power commission authority to fix reasonable rates on gas sold to distributing companies, either private or municipal, for resale to the public. Such rates are now regulated. Lea said he believed the result would be lower rates for consumers in 35 states served by natural gas lines.

Republicans failed in an attempt to strike a provision permitting the power commission to employ administration personnel outside civil service. They praised the bill itself.

Advocates denied that the bill might tend to create monopolies and said that authority would not be taken from state commissions.

Rep. Robert Crosser, Cleveland, O., Democrat, said the bill, if passage were completed, would open the way for many Ohio rate reductions.

POLICE ARE BAFFLED IN SLAYER SEARCH

All Clues Fade in Killing of Three Girls in California.

By The Associated Press

INGLEWOOD, Calif., July 2—Baffled detectives started from scratch again today in their search for the strangler of three little girls.

With the exception of one person, action of a wealthy New York and Los Angeles family, all suspects were eliminated as police took a new tack in their investigation—the belief the children were killed by someone with whom they were acquainted.

Even "Eddie the Sailor" for whom police have been seeking since the beaten and garroted bodies of the girls were found in a Baldwin Hills ravine Monday, was freed from suspicion.

For he, too, was a comparative stranger to Madeline Everett, 7, her sister, Melbar 9, and 8-year-old Jeanette Stephens.

The only holdover of the first phase of the roundup, the wealthy, 33 year-old man, was removed last night from an Inglewood hospital to the city hall, then sent back again to the hospital when authorities judged him still too intoxicated to submit to questioning.

Officials want him to explain his whereabouts over the week-end. They refused to disclose his name.

"IN LOVE" AT 12

When she appeared in court at Madisonville, Tenn., to protest annulment of her marriage to 32-year-old mountaineer Homer Peel, Mrs. Geneva Hamby Peel, 12, declared, "I love him and I don't want to leave him." Judge Chancellor A. T. Stewart refused to annul the marriage after Peel had testified that "she didn't have no place to go so I married her and gave her a home." (International News photo).

county in September, 1935, 190 men were listed on its rolls and within 60 days that number was enlarged to 900, Mr. Downing said. Today in the county there are still 600 working on WPA projects, he said. Under a new ruling just adopted, a WPA employe who obtains outside employment is dropped from the active rolls, but if that person loses his private employment within 90 days, through no fault of his own, he is immediately put back to work on WPA, Downing explained.

If, however, the person works in private industry more than 90 days and then loses his job, he goes back first to the direct relief rolls, to be certified later for WPA work. Private employers seeking to hire WPA workmen usually apply through the employment office, nominating a man they feel will fit the job, Downing said, in explaining the procedure being used to cut down the number on WPA.

If after a WPA worker has been selected for a job in private industry, and the worker refuses to accept, he is immediately dropped from WPA work, Mr. Downing also reviewed the principal WPA projects carried on in Marion city and county, pointing out that the work of repaving brick streets in the city, the construction of concrete stadiums at Harding athletic field and Lincoln park and the sewage treatment plant work are the larger and better known projects.

Mr. Downing was introduced by John Abel, who was in charge of arrangements for the former WPA director's appearance at the meeting.

Ghost Speaks But Gives Group The Busy Signal

By The Associated Press

LILY DALE, N. Y., July 2 — A Chinaman's "ghost" which spiritualist leaders said they contacted to speak for a "spirit recorder" gave them the busy signal today.

Members of this spiritualists' summer camp said they had been curtly informed by Lusa Fu, the departed spirit, that he was "too busy" to talk for experiments with the recording machine.

"I'm busy right now, but give the people my blessing and tell them I promise to come again," was the message as spoken by a British medium, Horace S. Hambling.

The brief message was recorded by the machine with which spiritualists said they caught the first "ghost voice" ever put on wax Wednesday night. A half dozen messages have been so recorded by Hambling who says spirits control his vocal cords during seances. He delivered the messages into a microphone in a corner 30 feet from the recording machine.

R. G. Pressing, editor of the Dale News, camp publication, said the most philosophical of the half dozen spirits so far recorded was "Moon Trail," an Indian who, spiritualists believe, died 300 years ago.

Listening to one of the wax records today, they heard repeated a "message" received from Moon trail last night:

"There is no greater manifestation of God than in beauty of a human hand clasped to help a human hand....most of you have been asleep to the means of reaching the fourth dimension....come a little higher, a little higher."

STUDIES OF INDIAN LORE TO CONTINUE

Southern Ohio Explorations Yield Interesting Facts.

By The Associated Press

LEBANON, O., July 2—Studies of prehistoric earthworks at nearby Fort Ancient state park will be resumed next fall, Dr. Warren King Moorehead, director of Archeology at Phillips Andover academy, at Andover, Mass., announced today in a letter to Joseph R. Gray.

Discoveries of importance, including six graves, were recorded by a similar expedition last autumn. One or two of the six burials Dr. Moorehead classed as among the most unusual yet brought to light in this section.

Dr. Moorehead, for many years an authority on lore of the people who inhabited the central Ohio valley during the years preceding Columbus' discovery of the continent, said the new expedition would seek to determine, among other things, the age of the earthworks, and attempt to establish definitely whether they were a part of the famed moundbuilders' culture.

South-central Ohio, particularly Ross county and southward to the Ohio river, has been the scene of numerous explorations.

UPPER SANDUSKY, July 2—A woman's gold watch such as was worn on the shoulder a generation ago was found here by Fred Mitsch Sr., after a new sidewalk had been built in front of his residence. The former Miss Clark, who is now the wife of Rural Mail Carrier Percy Hale, lost the watch in front of the residence she and her family then occupied 33 years ago. With the exception that the crystal is broken and the stem rusted, the piece remains in splendid condition.

—•The•— Marry-Go-Round

BY HELEN ROWLAND

THE WOMAN WAITS

Most women spend the best years of their lives in a state of suspended animation—waiting for some man! Waiting for him to show up—or waiting for a showdown. Waiting for him to go home—or waiting for him to come home!

Before marriage, a girl gets enough preliminary practice to prepare her for the long endurance test that's coming. She begins by waiting for a man to call her up, waiting for him to invite her out, waiting for the love idea to break through his 'armour-proof' defense mechanism—and sometimes waiting at the church until the best man has braced him up and got him there.

After marriage comes the post-graduate course in the gentle art of waiting. Any woman not born with the resigned and placid soul of a 'waiter,' was not born to be happily married. It's a case of waiting for him to come to breakfast in the morning; waiting for him to get home to dinner at night, waiting for him to grow up and stop playing games—and finally waiting for him to slow down, remember his rheumatism, and stop thinking of himself as a Don Juan. And that's some wait!

The most foolish thing a girl can do is to lie awake nights wondering what has happened to her current man—just because he hasn't shown up or called up for a week. Nothing has happened to him—except probably a new blonde. Or his old first gang have "got him." Or he's gone fishing.

Nothing ever does happen to them! Especially, when you're afraid something has. Many a discouraged and waiting wife has sat by the radio and listened with fear and trembling—dreading to hear her "wandering boy's" name listed in some dreadful casualty. But it's only the good husbands who die young and suddenly. The other kind seem to be endowed with immortality!

Men are perverse that way. It is always the sober, steady-going man, who drives carefully and watches the traffic-lights, that gets tangled up with a truck or skids into a telegraph pole. While the gay boy who is three sheets in the wind, zig-zags airily and safely through traffic and lands at the old garden gate without even scratching a mudguard. Immortal—that's what!

Nothing so outrages a woman as to sit up half the night, with visions of her husband mangled in a smash-up—and then have him walk in, hours and hours late, hale and hearty and cheerful—instead of on a stretcher! That's the moment when even the most patient of waiting-wives yearns to throw things!

The truth is that a man just forgets a woman when she's out of his sight, as he forgets where he's parked his pipe or left his hat. He will leave her waiting around for days and days while he is absorbed in a business deal, or a little summer flirtation or a golf tournament, or a trip out of town—and then come back and expect to pick up the friendship or the affair right where he left it.

There is an ancient joke that a woman is never on time, she is always keeping a man waiting while she "primps." That alleged joke might have been side-splitting in grandmother's day. But in these modern times of feminine efficiency, a woman can make a quick change of three garments in five minutes, assemble her complexion in a jiffy-or-two, and be all dressed and ready—while a man is still hunting for his "other shoes." Dressed and ready—and waiting!

IT'S ODD But It's Science

BY HOWARD BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK — To measure the lower edge of infinity—that place or condition where heat ceases to exist, and which is called "absolute zero"—two English scientists, J. J. Allen and E. S. Shire of Cambridge, have found a new kind of thermometer.

It is a very fine phosphor bronze wire. As temperature drops, the wire's resistance to electric current likewise goes down. The resistance drop is exactly in proportion to loss of heat, so that the wire measures the steps in the last degree.

It has accurately charted two hundredths of one degree above absolute zero, the scientists report in Nature. Whether it will remain accurate for the last two hundredths of a degree they do not know. But dropping through this last fraction of a degree would be all the way to infinity, and no scientist expects to attain that goal. Infinity lies in the fact that no matter how close to absolute zero you get, there is always a smaller fraction you can think of, and that really exists.

Acidosis.

WITHIN RECENT years a great deal has been heard about the treatment of 'acidosis.' Advertisements daily appear in magazines and newspapers, offering cures for what is believed to be a common ailment.

It may surprise you to learn that this affliction is not at all common. It only occurs under rare conditions. Acidosis is usually confused with another and common ailment, acidity.

Acidity is quite different from acidosis. Let me explain this more fully so that you may appreciate what the difference between the two conditions really is.

In acidosis there is a disturbance in the proper alkaline acid reaction of the body. Under normal conditions, this equilibrium lies midway between alkalinity and acidity. The balance is upset by some constitutional disorder or infection.

True acidosis is seen in severe cases of diabetes, where the fats and acids are not properly handled by the body. It is found in disorders which have among their symptoms persistent vomiting and diarrhea. It also occurs in severe hemorrhage, Bright's disease, in starvation and all wasting diseases.

Upset Stomach

On the other hand, acidity is a term used for an upset condition of the stomach. Under certain conditions, there is developed an oversupply of hydrochloric acid. This acid, which is secreted by the lining of the stomach, is essential in normal amounts for the proper digestion of food.

Increased secretion of hydrochloric acid can be caused by any emotional upset, nervousness, fatigue, faulty diet and carelessness in the choice of food. Excessive acidity is a common symptom in those who suffer from indigestion and complain of gas, "biliousness," nervousness and loss of appetite.

Correction of the diet and improvement in the daily health habits are necessary for overcoming the distressing symptoms. Definite eating hours must be set aside each day. The food should be thoroughly and carefully chewed before swallowing. The diet should be simple, nutritious and easily digested.

Do not take any medicine unless it is prescribed by your doctor. There is a universal habit of taking baking soda for acidity. It is true that relief is obtained, but it is only of a temporary nature. Do not depend on this practice but consult with your doctor and determine just why you suffer from acidity.

Make Traditional Double Curtsey at Third Court Before George VI.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 2—Fourteen American women made the traditional double curtsey before King George VI and Queen Elizabeth last night at the third royal court of a whirlwind coronation season.

For 300 debutantes it was the eighth spot in their social year. Chic gowns and brilliant uniforms glistened Buckingham Palace in contrast to the garden party court last year, when the then King Edward VIII received guests in half mourning for his father.

Mrs. Alexander W. Weddell, wife of the U. S. ambassador to Argentina, and Miss Mary Wright, daughter of the U. S. minister to Praha, were presented in the official diplomatic corps list. Mrs. Weddell wore green and gold lame, emeralds and diamonds and carried a green feather fan. Miss Wright wore a classics white silk gown embroidered with white beads.

Other Americans were chaperoned by Mrs. Robert W. Bingham, wife of the U. S. ambassador to London, who wore a Molyneux gown of white lace embroidered with silver.

The other American presentees: Miss Frances W. Andrews of Washington, D. C., white net and lace over silver.

Mrs. William A. Becker of Summit, N. J., amber satin embroidered in amber beads and diamonds.

Miss Anna Glenn Butler of New York City, white satin trimmed with diamante embroidery.

Miss Frances Ann Cannon of Charlotte, N. C., white mousseline de soie embroidered with brilliants.

Mrs. Lincoln Ellsworth of New York City, white lame with silver woven design. She is the wife of the explorer.

Miss Ellen E. Lehman of New York City, white tulle and rhinestones.

Miss Barbara Robinson of Westbury, L. I., white slipper satin with silver and white lame train.

Mrs. Frank P. Shepard of London, and New York, oyster white satin, empire style, embroidered with gold pearls.

Miss Helen Watson of New York City, white and silver lame with turquoise blue romain train.

Mrs. Caesar A. Grawemeyer of London and Wilmington, Del.

Miss Marion Morgan Kemp of Rome and New York City.

Holiday Vacation Trips Mapped for Motorists

... wish to brave ... traffic, M. E. ... of the Marion ... outlined several ... th of July week-... motorists this ... as far as va- ... Marion are con- ...

To the west of Sandusky on Route 2 is a stretch of one-way traffic between Toledo and Port Clinton.

Cleveland offers the Great Lakes Exposition. Several routes are open, but to avoid heavy traffic, Mr. Baldwin suggests taking Route 4 north to Route 59, just north of U. S. 20, then turn to the east on 59 to Elyria and take U. S. 20 into Cleveland. Another way leaves Marion on Route 30 S to Mansfield and Route 42 into Cleveland.

Dearborn Museum

Considerable interest is being shown in Henry Ford's Dearborn museum these days, Mr. Baldwin said. The best way is to take Route 23 north to Toledo, then U. S. 24 to the junction of 112 just west of Dearborn, turn to the east on 112 to the center of Dearborn and turn to the southeast section of the city where the museum is located. It comprises 200 acres and is filled with historical displays of machinery, furniture, architecture and Thomas A. Edison's electrical devices.

The trip can be made in a single day, being about 300 miles there and back.

O'Shaughnessy dam on the Scioto river is a favorite spot both for picnics and fishing and even for those who like to visit goos. A scenic round trip route is 23 to Delaware, 42 to the junction of 257, then 257 to the dam. To return take 257 to Belpoint, then to Route 37, turn right on 37 for about two miles to 203 and turn left on 203 through Radnor and Prospect to Newmans and take Route 4 into Marion.

The Serpent State Parks, 130 miles away, is an interesting historical site and also a beautiful picnic grounds. The safest route for holiday travelers is to take Route 4 to Marysville, 38 to London and Washington C. H., then 70 to the junction of Ohio 41, follow 41 to the edge of Locust Grove and turn to the right on Ohio 73 which will lead into the Serpent mounds.

To return take route 73 out of the park to Hillsboro, the U. S. 62 to Washington C.H., then 35 to Marysville and 4 to Marion.

Indian Lake

Indian Lake may best be reached by taking Route 4 to Route 47, then 47 to Bellefontaine, 32 directly to the lake and Russell's Point. To return, take Route 69 from Lakeview to the junction of 117, follow 117 to Route 67 and 67 into Kenton. From Kenton take 30 S into Marion. Route 67 is not entirely improved but is hard surfaced. There is some construction work and one way traffic on Route 69 near the lake.

Buckeye Lake is another favorite spot for picnics, dancers and others seeking a good time. To avoid poor roads take 23 directly to Columbus, then 40 east to Route 79, and follow 79 directly south to the lake. Returning to Marion take 79 back to Newark. From Newark the motorist may travel Route 13 to Fredericktown and 95 into Marion, or take Route 16 from Newark to Granville, 37 to Delaware and 23 into Marion.

The state parks and caves in Hocking county southwest of Logan may be reached by taking 23 to Columbus and 31 to Logan. Several routes are open from Logan to the various parks in the vicinity.

Cloth made of a material resembling rayon has been invented by a scientist in Czechoslovakia for printing books that are more permanent than those printed on high grade paper at less cost.

H. G. Teigan of Minnesota Wednesday night over WABC-CBS and Secretary of Commerce Roper will talk on "Industry and Labor" on the WJZ-NBC forum Monday.

Tonight: Nazi activity in America will be discussed by Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts at 9:45 over WABC-CBS; A. A. U. track summary at 10:30 over WEAF-NBC.

Tomorrow will bring the A. A. U. track meet at Milwaukee over WEAF-NBC at 2:45, 3:30, 4:15, 5 and 6 p. m.; the Vanderbilt cup race over WJZ-NBC at 1, 2:15 and 4.

Every Little Word.

The President of the United States, thanks to his long silence on the strikes which have monopolized public interest for six months is in a position where every little word he utters on that subject is expected to have a meaning all its own.

His quoted remark at a press conference, referring to disputes between unionists and employers— a plague on both your houses! —was examined closely for hidden meaning, therefore. Subsequent explanation that "both your houses" meant "houses of extremists on both sides" shed no light on the matter.

Mr. Roosevelt, like his countrymen, has reason to be irritated with elements which have disturbed the peace and security of the nation. But until he has something to say which will explain why he has chosen to seem to contribute to extremism he had better maintain the studied silence in which he presumably has been contemplating his predicament.

Budging The Budget.

The trouble with the budget, household or federal, is the constant temptation to budge it. When the dollars and debts were counted up at the end of June, it was discovered the spenders had budged the budget $150,000,000. At least, the government was that far short of expectations for the year.

The technical explanation is, of course, too technical for anyone but the right kind of expert to understand, and he wouldn't be able to make much sense out of it. For experts are like other men, insofar as most of them still think $100 is a tidy lump of money. A billion is beyond their comprehension, too.

So perhaps the one fact about the, ahem! financial situation which a great many Americans will be able to remember is this:

The national deficit—the money which the government has spent without having it—had reached approximately $36,400,000,000 at the close of the fiscal year. In other words, it very likely will pass $37,000,000,000 before the end of the present calendar year, which happens to be 1937.

If that happens, it probably will grow to approximately $38,000,000,000 during the calendar year of 1938 and at last there will seem to be some connection between the year and the deficit. If, as some of the softer headed financial geniuses (who probably never had more than $1,000 of their own) predict, the debt can and will go to $60,000,000,000 it will be interesting to see whether the year 1965 and the ultimate collapse of the house of cards will come together.

Not Too Seriously.

Human beings have an endless interest in weddings, perhaps because they mean that life is going on as usual. June weddings this year excited even more 'Ohs" and "Ahs' than usual.

Not forgetting the Duke of Windsor and his lady, or the Hollywoodians who made June "alterations" this year, the ordinary human being who likes the contrast which marriage provides for social upheaval probably has most to gain from the marriage of Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. and Ethel duPont.

Here was a clear case of children living their own lives.

Millions of their countrymen have learned to hate the duPonts because President Roosevelt and his new dealers said the duPonts should be hated. Other millions, including the duPonts, have distrusted Mr. Roosevelt and his government for stooping to use class hatred as a political weapon.

But that didn't prevent the President's son and a daughter of the duPont clan from falling in love in the nice old fashioned way. Now if their papas and mamas will mind their own business, the newlyweds and a lot of their countrymen can feel more than ever this class hatred stuff is a lot of tripe.

Great Teacher.

In various parts of the country, there are men and women who should be acutely conscious of the slightness of their stature as they learn of the death of William McAndrew.

Mr. McAndrew was a teacher, one of the greatest. That is the tribute which his countrymen pay him today. It was yesterday that he earned the tribute, and yesterday that he patiently bore the calumny which proved that he possessed elements of greatness.

In 1927, "Big Bill" Thompson, one of the noisiest politicians of all time, put Mr. McAndrews, then superintendent of Chicago schools, into the pillory and trampled his way to the mayor's office on a ridiculous charge that the educator was a 'stool pigeon for King George.' As mayor, Thompson succeeded in having Mr. McAndrew thrown out of his job.

It was not his first encounter with politicians. In 1891, he had lost another battle with them in Chicago. Discouraged, he left teaching for a time, but returned to it as principal of New York schools and, despite the bitter opposition of politicians, held that position until 1924, when he went to Chicago.

The story of his life is a saga of a great teacher who upheld the truth against the attacks of the political parasites who attach themselves to public school systems when the public ceases to be alert.

The little men and women who, dwarfed by his stature, tried to destroy him with their spitefulness probably still are wondering what kept them from succeeding.

American Plan.

Thirty more Russians, one of them a charter Bolshevik have been executed in the Stalinist purge of the Communist party.

Americans say this is a frightful price to exact for political conformity. The European purge shocks them. As Sinclair Lewis pointed out in "It Can't Happen Here," the American sense of humor is too strong ever to permit it to country to admire or to imitate a foreign style of dictatorship.

The American plan is milder. It reached a climax of mildness last week-end when most of the congressional members of the discordant Democratic party attended a picnic and sang songs together. Yet, in the American way, there is a political purge in the making, perhaps it already is in full swing.

Stanley High, new dealer, predicted early this year there would be action by new dealers to rid the Democratic party of non-believers. Walter Lippmann, commenting this week on High's prophecy, admitted it was sustained by the current embarrassing position of old line members like Senators Robinson and Glass and Vice President Garner, who has left Washington in protest against new deal policy.

Sen. Capper of Kansas recently told his constituents in plain terms of the struggle now going on between the White House and Democratic leaders for control of the party. Turner Catledge of The New York Times reports that Mr. Roosevelt is yielding to the pressure of advisers who demand that instead of compromising on any part of his program he expel from the party all Democrats who dare to oppose him. Jay Franklin, new deal evangelist-columnist, snorts that men who are trying to keep Mr. Roosevelt from being 'available' for a third term are rebels.

The purge (American plan) is being revealed.

The Vandenberg Amendment

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

THE only possible position for any one who believes in democracy and in liberalism to take now, in the industrial struggle, is to support Senator Vandenberg's bill to amend the Wagner labor relations act. The bill safeguards the rights of labor to organize, provides that one labor election need not impose a union for all time upon both employers and employes, the option of calling such elections, provides that privileges strikes cannot be called without a majority vote of all employes, and that breaches of contract suspend the right of representation.

It also establishes a "code of fair practices for unions" prohibits compulsory assessments for political purposes, outlaws coercion and violence—by either side, and insists that officers and agents of a union must be American citizens.

The bill parallels proposals which have been made in this column for months. That it is timely, no one will question. It is long overdue. For either we are going to get a labor act which is in harmony with American public opinion, or we are going to get even worse chaos than at present exists.

No Doubt of Public Opinion

What American public opinion is, no one need longer doubt. Governor Davey and Governor Murphy are being forced to respond to it. Governor Davey has modified the policy of Washington for just one reason. He has become aware of what the communities which he represents think. Governor Murphy is also, apparently, beginning to be aware that action has got to be taken against unbridled license on the part of the CIO. It has got to be taken to protect the very things for which the Wagner labor relations act ostensibly stands (industrial democracy), and the rights of workers.

John L. Lewis is, of all people the man who—if he is sincere—should welcome the clarification of the law. Mr. Lewis has admitted on numerous occasions that he does not have his cohorts in hand, that inflamed with enthusiasm, young and untrained leaders are bolting the union discipline. Mr. Lewis disclaims all responsibility for the Saginaw strike which cut off power from 200 communities, and for innumerable other "wild" strikes. Therefore, he should welcome a higher discipline. The discipline of law.

He should welcome it also because the growth of vigilantism is menacing in the extreme; menacing to all of us, especially menacing to him. That there would be vigilantism of growing fury if conditions continued as they were, if lawlessness was condoned and tolerated by the federal authorities and its henchmen, also has been predicted for months in this column. Now it is here. Newspaper men report from Michigan that Ku-Kluxism is growing rapidly; that baseball bats, rifles and shotguns are becoming part of the standing equipment of shop stewards and bars. We are informed that the Ford service squad has sides in the CIO masking as ardent unionists and that the company unions, or anti-CIO unions, also contain many CIO members. Spies are invariably agents provocateurs.

Backbone of Movement

The American Legion forms the backbone of the vigilante movement. But every conceivable "patriotic" organization rallies to their defense. The Friends of the New Germany, whose conception of democracy is Mr. Hitler's, are supporting the vigilantes. Gerald K. Smith, one of the ablest rabble rousers of the country, is making hay. Father Coughlin is prepared to align his tongue and his organization on the side of a neo-Fascist movement, and the Nazi government is sending one of its most unprincipled propagandists, Baron von Killinger, as consul to San Francisco. The state department ought to say "Persona non grata."

And WPA teachers of "adult education paid by all Americans, are teaching classes organized by the CIO the tactics of trade unionism.

It has already reached the stage in Michigan, where to be effective at all the citizen has got to take sides in a fight which, whoever wins, threatens to ruin democratic government based on law. And yet the overwhelming mass of the American people—I say it without the slightest hesitation—hate the terrorism of both extremes; want the establishment of principles and a just law which both Mr. Ford and Mr. Lewis must acknowledge; want the instruments of force exclusively in the hands of legal and public authorities; and want those authorities to represent the law and not some personal authority or party policy.

It is not too late for that spirit to win in this struggle, provided that the members of the congress of the United States act according to their consciences and horse sense.

Elections Under the Wagner Act

(FROM BUSINESS WEEK)

AS EMPLOYERS discuss the Wagner act and how it works, a great many pertinent points are raised, some of them easily answered and others not. Around one procedure—the matter of elections—a debate has progressed for weeks.

Actually, study of the national labor relations board records shows that elections may be any one of several kinds, and that no plant can measure itself exactly by the yardstick applied to another, even in the same industry. The most common charge of "unfairness" leveled against the NLRB election is that "there isn't any choice open to the worker except yes or no, and of course he says he'll join the union."

Sometimes it is true that the election is held on a yes or no basis—but only if there is but one petitioning group of employes which has sizable support in the shop. In some cases (election by Third Avenue Railway employes, New York City, is a good example) there are several places to mark the ballot. There may be three or four groups listed, as well as a place for the worker to indicate that he prefers a non-union status.

Elections may be ordered by the board, or they be consented to by all parties, with details on form of ballot, eligible voters, date of payroll to be used, etc., settled by stipulation. Consent elections may be held elsewhere.

IMPARTIALITY in NLRB management of elections is not doubted by those who have been through the experience. For each poll watcher or helper from one side, there is one from the other side, and the board's officials usually are present in sufficient numbers to run the polling smoothly. In the Jones & Laughlin vote, when nearly 25,000 steel workers cast their ballots, there were 46 polling places, all on company property. Ernest Dunbar of the regional NLRB had around 70 helpers, including attorneys and assistants from Washington, and there were 176 authorized observers, half appointed by the company and half by the Steel Workers Organizing Committee. This was the biggest election held by NLRB to date, and was carried through in one day.

Before the elections are held various groups work to get the vote out. In Jones & Laughlin although the vote was only on the question of SWOC's right to majority bargaining power, two independent groups were active and some 7,000 workers voted no. More than 17,000 voted yes, however, and the SWOC got the contract.

The Committee for Industrial Organization, through its various industrial organizing agencies, enters many of the NLRB elections but often the fight is between independent groups. The number of names on the ballot depends on the number of groups showing substantial backing which request listing.

Rules of elections are posted prominently throughout the plant prior to an election, sample ballots are distributed, and all arrangements for observers and mechanics of voting are set down. Coercion or electioneering is barred in a 100 ft. radius of polls, usually, and strictly enforced. Ballots are always secret, and unsigned.

SUCH is the framework. On it, all interested parties usually build plans for winning the election, and feverish argument between workers usually precedes elections which are in any way close. In the preliminary request for an election the organizing unions nearly always play their cards carefully—it is good CIO policy, for instance, to ask for no vote until you are sure "you've got the guys" and can win without trouble. If another group has strength, it may beat the CIO to the request, which means that caution is tossed aside and the industrial union works for a place on the ballot.

Now under way is one of the most difficult elections of all—one which will take six weeks to complete and which is "tricky" in the extreme. It is the vote by seamen and other employes of three steamship lines plying out of New York. Personnel breaks down into several divisions, each of which has warring union groups contending for support. Ship by ship, port by port the balloting will be directed until a majority of those eligible have cast their votes. And in the meantime, if the board is looking for work, the International Seamen's Union has filed a petition asking that 55 more Atlantic and Gulf Coast lines be added to the three already slated. Opponent of the I. S. U. (tied up with the A. F. L.) is the National Maritime Union (CIO), and a hot time is anticipated by all.

Today in Ohio History

James A. Garfield was a preacher as well as a president. While a young man he joined that denomination of Christians known as the "Christian Church." He soon became a leader and preacher of that sect. After serving as president of Hiram college, as a general in the federal army during the Civil war and as a congressman from Ohio, he was nominated for the presidency of the United States. He was fatally shot, on July 2, 1881, by Charles Guiteau, a disappointed office seeker.

Michigan's New Labor Law

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1937, By The Marion Star.

WASHINGTON, July 2—Michigan has just passed a new law governing labor relations, and, in some respects, it is a helpful and constructive measure, though, in other respects, it makes labor problems even more complicated as between federal and state authority.

The big question that will be asked, however, is what possible good is any law in the state of Michigan, new or old, when irresponsible elements may defy court orders and go unpunished.

As yet there has been no prosecution of the individuals who committed contempt of court in Flint by refusing to withdraw from General Motors plants where a sit-down strike was being held. Likewise, in Detroit, the order of a court was defied by strikers at the Chrysler plants.

It is true that in the state of Michigan there has been no law hitherto prohibiting even peaceful picketing and that the act just passed supplies an omission by defining picketing and prohibiting violence. Michigan, however, has done nothing to investigate the circumstances surrounding the failure of the local authorities to enforce the already existent laws of the state with respect to trespassing on private property. Nor has there been revealed the extent to which the governor counselled against law enforcement.

The Michigan governor was the victim of persuasion by the Roosevelt administration and in the end found himself in a jam. Governor Davey of Ohio, confronted by similar tactics on the part of the Washington administration, allowed himself to be ensnared only for a few days and then came out clearly and forcefully for law and order in one of the best statements written yet on the subject of the right to work.

Undoubtedly Governor Murphy was influenced by Washington to withhold the use of force to secure obedience to court orders, but the public does not know the nature of the influence used upon the governor of a sovereign state.

Discloses Influence Used

Something of the pressure employed was disclosed by Governor Davey of Ohio who publicly says that the secretary of labor demanded that he use troops to keep plants closed. Said Governor Davey in a formal statement:

"It is no doubt appropriate to quote her (Secretary Perkins') exact language in part as follows: 'We must not let the efforts of the mediation board fail. We cannot let our labor friends think we have let them down. I think you ought to keep those mills closed until a settlement is reached'."

Here is a case of federal power exerted upon the governor of a state with the suggestion that he refuse to furnish protection for property or for the right of workingmen to work. It is an amazing example of federal intervention, and when all the facts are disclosed as to the parleys over the telephone and in conference between the federal administration in Washington and the governor of Michigan, there may be other evidence of how the federal government attempted to persuade, and in this case did persuade, a governor not to do his duty in obeying existing laws.

The new Michigan statute on labor relations was forced by an outraged opinion in the state. In the first place the act does what the Wagner act failed to do. It insists that employers as well as employes stand on the same footing with respect to insistence on elections and with respect to investigation by a labor board of charges of unfair practices. The Michigan law enumerates the "powers, duties and responsibilities" of the board of industrial relations and among other things says the board has the power, duty and responsibility

Crying American Need

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 2—Thoughts while strolling. Why do they always put the telephone book in the darkest corner of the drug store? Crying American need. A little consideration for the thrifty. George Jean Nathan has gone collegiate with hat brim up in front and down in the back, rah, rah!

Complete characterizer: The lug who performs with a toothpick behind his napkin in a cafe. How many remember Harold Ross's pompadour, Ralph Barton's finger ring circling his four-in-hand, and "Stuffy" Davis's sweater at first nights? Overworked word: Allergic.

Literary look alikes: John Steinbeck and E. E. Cummings. My entrants for the Sartorial Glee Sweepstakes would be Cecil De-Mille, Conde Nast and Isaac F. Marcosson. Mike Hogg has a chauffeur who talks exactly like Eddie Green. Eyeful: Youngish brunet with a feather of white through her hair.

For bobbing along with a smirk, no one can top Elsa Maxwell. Rhyme: The Brothers Ritz never throw me into fits. What happens to fortunates such as Dwight Fiske when they get too old to sing their ribald choruses? Kingdon Gould and F. P. A. could pass for twins in a light fog.

Who remembers when sinus was just old fashioned catarrh. A hope for 70: To sit down at a typewriter and bang out as readable stuff as George Ade can turn out. Something majestic about a New York sundown with that sheet of blood red falling curtainlike at the foot of each street.

Albert Lasker, advertising tycoon, is among the increasing number of highsalaried executives who are slamming down their desk tops and going up the gangplank for a trip around the world. Business men used to think they were lucky if they could get away long enough for a quickie to Europe, and a circle of the globe was something of a Jules Verne fantasy. But with the airplane the speedup and comfort of the long haul a world tour has become just another casual junket. Dick Berlin, of the magazines, for instance has done it and the world twice in three years.

James Cromwell, the literary society boy and husband of the heiress Doris Duke, is taking his authoring seriously. He works at the trade of writing as prodigiously as any steady-going scribbler. For a year now he has been working on a volume with an economic theme. Although born with the proverbial golden spoon, he boldly chose his title, "In Defense of Capitalism." An old established publishing house got out the tome, which would indicate a high standard of literary quality.

Another interesting wealthy family is that of Kingdom Gould, son of the late George and Edith Gould. Gould married the teacher of languages of their family, a charming Italian lady from Sienna, and they have three children, Silvia, Edith and Kingdom Jr. They live in a triplex apartment in the East 70's and those who know say it is one of the most supremely happy families to be found anywhere. Each of their lives centers about the home. The top floor is equipped with squash courts and various games in which all indulge daily. Silvia, darkly beautiful, speaks Italian and French the same as English. She also plays the harp and piano and a masterly game of bridge. Edith, a sub-deb, also plays the harp and piano and writes poetry. A volume of her poems was printed when she was 14. Kingdom Jr., at 13 makes his own movies, runs the projector and plays bridge with his father's friends. The mother is adept at painting and several of her canvases have been exhibited. They often go picnicing together for the day in the Jersey woods.

They jailed Dapper Don Collins again the other day—his 37th arrest. This time in a counterfeit trading deal. Dapper Don is one of the crooks that makes the suave creations of fiction writers seem plausible. He is a true life underworld swell, dressing a bit flashy but in good taste, and ordering expertly in the better restaurants, choosing vintage wine with the selective talent of a gourmet. He has a gracious charm that instantly wins confidence among strangers—which is, of course, his big idea. Despite his many arrests, he always manages to wiggle out, remain in quiet seclusion awhile and then appear in his old haunts with all the insouciance of some accomplished worldling just back from a globe trot. On the theory, one supposes, that the world often loves a rascal, Dapper Don seems welcomed by those who know him. Nickey Arnstein had the same sort of unexplainable charm, getting the choice tables in cafes and night clubs.

And I wangled a hefty chuckle out of Gene Crawley's trip to the Empire State tower with a goggle-eyed country boy from Oklahoma. As the elevator shot up, the Oklahoman glanced down with bewilderment, then indulged a wide sheepish grin. "I thought my pants dropped off," he explained.

Burned Fingers

May Be Helpful in Maintaining Peace.

BY PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The progress this country has made in keeping out of other people's wars is well shown in a current thick publication of the state department containing correspondence of that weird period in world history when other nations were trying to keep Russia from going bolshevik.

The United States, Great Britain, France and Japan finally sent thousands of men and millions of money into eastern Russia by way of Vladivostok in a mad effort to beat back Lenin, Trotsky and their bolshevik legions.

Burned Fingers

That was away back in 1918. This country had decided, along with the other "associated powers" which came from the World war with a pseudo-victory, that bolshevism was bad for Russia and a danger to the world.

Maj. Gen. William S. Graves headed an American Expeditionary Force into Russia to help save the world from bolshevism. He became thoroughly tired of the whole affair before the end. He never quite certain whether he was saving the world from bolshevism or saving eastern Russia for Japan.

President Wilson considered it a moral crusade. "The issue of the struggle cannot be for a day in doubt," he said in a speech during the session, "but I am confident that the cynical and immoral opposition of Lenin and his followers will in the end prevail."

The President was wrong. Lenin and his followers did prevail. The United States ultimately pulled out of Russia, its fingers severely burned. It declined to go near the place for 15 years.

Modern Example

Now there is another somewhat similar example. Spain is burning its revolution. It has almost turned around once from a republican government under a king to a republican government under a very liberal, but not red regime. During that period of turning, the United States has stayed out. So did other countries for the most part.

The present turning toward a fascistic government, drew, in general of Europe's habitual participants. No one except the most blubber minded patriot would pretend that Italy and Germany are mixing in the affair on one side and Russia on the other with anywhere such high idealism as was expressed by President Wilson.

They are in nevertheless and the principal hope for prolonged peace in the world is that the United States, they will get their fingers so badly burned that they won't want to go near the place for 15 years.

Glancing Backward

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, July 2, 1927.

Official numbers of five main highways running through Marion county were changed in connection with a general revision of the federal and state highway numbering system throughout the state.

Mrs. Anna Salisbury of Park Boulevard returned after spending the winter with her son, Dr. Edward I. Salisbury in Santa Maria, South America.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Quaintance and three children of Girard avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Levi Weik of Bucyrus left on a motor trip to Niagara Falls and other points in the east.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cline of North Greenwood street entertained at a wedding breakfast honoring Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes McCoy, sister and brother-in-law of Mrs. Cline, whose marriage had taken place at Norton.

Miss Emma Jane Horseman and Clinton K. Kneisley, both of Marion, were united in marriage at Epworth M. E. parsonage by Dr. B. L. George.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, July 2, 1917.

The national army drafting machinery started operations. President Wilson, in announcing regulations, said the drafted army would be drawn with "the least inequality and personal hardship."

The first day of the new Russian offensive on the Galician front resulted in capture of 1,000 Austro-German prisoners, the war office at Petrograd announced. The Russian drive was launched following many months of inactivity among the troops of that nation.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd C. Welty of West Center street.

Capt. George T. Gerns received notice that D Co. with 138 men was the third largest company in the Fourth regiment. The largest was H Co. of Chillicothe with 200 and E Co. of Marysville with 150. Recruiting in the Marion company had been ended and orders to mobilize on July 15 issued.

Lewis M. Francis, father of John J. Francis, former sheriff died at his home on Kenton avenue. He was 71.

The Knights of Khorassan, side degree of the Knights of Pythias elected G. E. Abbott representative to the meeting of the imprial temple at Cedar Point and named W. N. Childers alternate. H. Reidenbaugh, as royal vizier, headed a new corps of officers installed.

Miss Mildred Jones held a reception to about 50 young people friends at her home on East Church street as a compliment to her house guests, Misses Gertrude Faye, Gladys Neidner and Miriam Cussner of Brooklyn, N. Y. who were her classmates at Lasell, Greenwich, Conn.

THREE JUDGES DECIDE ISSUE

Will Settle Question in CIO Demand for Injunction Against Guard.

By The Associated Press.

Columbus, O., July 2—Three federal judges will determine whether one or three federal judges shall hear an injunction on [illegible] use of troops in the Mahoning valley steel strike area.

The question of deciding who shall rule on the ultimate issue of whether the state challenged jurisdiction of federal district Judge Neil G. Underwood, whom the committee for industrial organization had asked to prevent National Guardsmen from protecting non-strikers now at work.

The CIO contends that use of the troops is a violation of the national labor relations act.

Judge Underwood, after a hearing late yesterday, said he would conduct another hearing Tuesday on the CIO'S supplementary request for a temporary restrainer, and would invite District Judge Robert Nevin of Dayton and a circuit court of appeals judge to help solve the jurisdictional point. He alone will hear the request for a restrainer.

He did not say when the three-judge court would convene.

If three judges hear the permanent injunction suit itself, either side can then appeal directly to the U. S. supreme court.

Counsel for the state contended that a temporary restrainer would have the same effect as a permanent injunction and would cause "chaos" in the strike-ridden Mahoning valley.

More than 4,500 guardsmen were placed in the strike zone on orders of Gov. Davey, June 21, after the CIO leader, John L. Lewis appealed to him to "prevent bloodshed." The troops had orders to preserve the "status quo" in the strike.

On June 24, when federal mediation efforts failed to end the strike, Davey directed the troops to guarantee the safety of any person desiring to work. The CIO injunction petition followed.

In Ohio History

(From the J. H. Galbraith collection of Ohio histories, written for The Associated Press.)

COLUMBUS' FIRST POSTOFFICE

It was by order of Gideon Granger, postmaster general of the United States, that a postoffice was first established at Columbus, O., in 1813—just a year after the site of the capital of the state had been permanently located there.

By that time a number of the first lot purchasers in Columbus had built houses on their premises and were living there. A few stores had been established and these, with the business of the proprietors and the officials in charge of the new buildings, produced a considerable volume of mail, which was handled through the postoffice in Franklinton.

ASSOCIATION HEAD

Frank E. Whittemore of Akron was reelected for the third consecutive year to the presidency of the Ohio State Automobile association, at its annual convention held in Cleveland. Mr. Whittemore for a number of years was a member of the Ohio senate, and for several terms was floor leader of the senate during which time he was regarded as an ardent friend of the motorists. He is also author of the Whittemore law, which permits delinquent taxpayers to pay in installments along with the payment of current taxes.

MICHIGAN PASSES NEW LABOR LAW

"to investigate charges of violations of this act by either employers, employes or an organization thereof" and "to conduct such investigations as it shall deem proper for the protection of employes or employers against racketeering, extortion and other unfair practices."

Sit-Downs Forbidden

The provisions against picketing by violence are so well drawn that they unquestionably forbid "sit-down" strikes in the future. The new law says: "Picketing is hereby declared to be lawful in this state except under the following conditions and circumstances:

"(A) Patrolling or attendance by any persons whether on behalf of a labor organization or otherwise, at or near a place of business or employment affected by a labor dispute, or the residence of any person employed therein or other place where such person may be, in such manner or numbers as to obstruct or otherwise interfere with approach thereto or egress therefrom, or interfere with the free and unimpeded use of a public highway.

"(B) Patrolling or picketing in or about any premises or place of business involved in a labor dispute by a person who is neither employed therein nor a party to the dispute nor an official of a labor organization that is a party to the dispute."

But when these things occur, what is the remedy? The courts are instructed to issue injunctions ordering persons to desist from the practices complained of. But supposing the judicial authority of the state of Michigan does not get the backing of the executive and enforcing authority, then of what avail is the best statute in the world? This is the real question left unsettled in the state of Michigan.

STOCKS MOVE AHEAD TODAY

Advances Noted Generally on Market, Although Somewhat Irregular.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 2—The stock market moved irregularly higher today.

With traders leaving for the long week-end and an absence of vital news from the business front dealings were so quiet the stock ticker halted frequently.

Issues up fractions to a point or so were Republic Steel, Chrysler, Goodyear, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Case, Curtiss-Wright, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Consolidated Edison, North American, Electric Power & Light, American Water Works, Anaconda, Cerro De Pasco, American Smelting, American Can, Texas Corp., Loew's, Paramount, Philip Morris and National Supply.

Shares which lacked friends were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Yellow Truck, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, Western Union, International Nickel, Westinghouse, General Electric, Du Pont, Allis Chalmers, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific and Union Carbide.

Wheat was up, corn and cotton lower. Bonds were steady. The French franc and pound sterling were narrow.

A high price for Pure Oil was sold by brokers to reflect recent operating economies and the opening of new fields.

At the start of trading analysts were heartened by extension in the demand for commercial credit disclosed by the weekly banking statistics of the federal reserve system.

Loans to commerce, industry and agriculture gained $32,000,000 in the week ended Wednesday.

It was noted retail sales for the country at large rose three to six per cent over the preceding week and 10 to 20 per cent over the like week last year, according to Dun & Bradstreet.

Wool Market

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, July 2—Trade on spot wool was practically at a standstill in the Boston market today. A few low offers for domestic wools were made apparently for the purpose of testing the market rather than in a serious effort to buy. Reports received by members of the wool trade indicated some mills were either closed or operating on reduced schedules.

PLANS FOR HORSE PULLING COMPLETE

Entry List for Sunday Event at Fairgrounds Now Near 30 Mark.

Arrangements were completed today for Sunday's horse pulling contest at the fairgrounds Sunday afternoon, sponsored by the Marion county fair board and the Ohio Horse Pulling association.

Entries of teams from several states approached the 30 mark today, assuring lively competition in both of the weight divisions in which the horses will be classed.

The program will be started at 1:30 p. m. Sunday. Parking space will be available on the fairgrounds, J. A. Raub, fair secretary, said.

Sunday's contest is the fifth of a series to be held in Ohio this year. Another one, for boy and girl drivers, will be a part of the fair program next fall.

FEW ROAD DETOURS IN THIS SECTION

There are comparatively few detours on Ohio's highways to slow the pace of traffic during the week-end and holiday, the state highway department's road condition bulletin for the week beginning Saturday shows.

One of the few in the vicinity near Marion is on the Bucyrus-Ocosia road where four miles of road east of Ocosia are being paved. The detour adds one mile.

Another is on route 67 just east of Kenton on the Marseilles road where a widening and resurfacing project is under way. The detour adds four miles.

A bridge is out on route 231 five miles south of Bloomdale on the Marion-Bowling road. The detour adds three miles.

Main routes passing through Marion are free of detours.

CONSERVANCY COURT TO MEET JULY 8-9

Scioto - Sandusky 17 - Judge Group Arranges for Session at Cedar Point.

A meeting of the 17-judge conservancy court for the Scioto-Sandusky flood control district will be held July 8 and 9 at Cedar Point in conjunction with the annual summer convention of the Ohio State Bar association, Common Pleas Judge Hector S. Young of Marion, a member of the court, said today.

While the meeting is said by Judge Robert P. Duncan of Columbus, presiding judge, to be merely a regular session, there have been reports that one of the three directors of the district is considering resigning. If the resignation is made, the Cedar Point session will appoint a new director.

Judges of nearby counties who are members of the court are C. U. Ahl of Bucyrus, H. W. Jewell of Delaware, P. H. Wieland of Mt. Gilead and Russell H. Kear of Upper Sandusky.

The three directors are William E. Starrh of Upper Sandusky and Joseph Van Meter of Waverly, both recently absolved of charges of political interference in the administration of the $30,000,000 flood control project, and B. H. Smith of Fremont.

Last month news reports from Washington indicated the board of directors might be absorbed into a regional authority proposed by President Roosevelt to guard against floods, dust storms and other catastrophes of the weather.

MARION GROUP ATTENDS SOCIAL SECURITY MEET

First District Institute Session Held at Mansfield With 200 from Six Counties Present.

Approximately 200 persons from Marion and other north central Ohio counties attended the initial meeting of the Ohio Social Security institute at Mansfield high school auditorium yesterday, marking the opening of the new field office under the management of Robert G. Mish of Marion.

Among those attending from here were Fred B. Scheriff, manager of the Ohio State Employment service here, his assistants Miss Mary K. Krafft and Vaughan Fox, and Dr. N. Sifritt, county health commissioner.

Gets Instructions

Postmaster L. L. Lamborn, who has been supervising the handling of assignment of social security account numbers for Marion workmen since last December, said today he has been instructed as to his duties under the new set-up. The postoffice here from now on will merely furnish application blanks for persons wishing to obtain account numbers and the applicants must forward the filled forms postpaid to the area office at Toledo, he said.

Yesterday's meeting opened at 1:30 with William F. Black presiding. The staff of the institute, a traveling school, was introduced. Talks were given by F. A. Hester of the regional office at Cleveland, Mayor Earl L. McFarland of Mansfield, Walter J. Mackey of Columbus, manufacturers' representative on the Ohio Unemployment commission. Mr. Mish was also introduced.

Two Main Subjects

Following the addresses, the meeting was divided into two sessions, one for discussion of unemployment compensation and one for federal old age pensions.

The meeting was attended by employers and workers alike from the Mansfield area which includes Marion, Morrow, Wyandot, Crawford, Ashland and Richland counties. The Mansfield office managed by Mr. Mish, will have charge of the investigation of claims in the counties.

The Ohio State Employment service here is aiding in administration of the federal social security program, Mr. Scheriff said. It keeps its employment records open for the convenience of the program and assists in investigating claims of workmen for unemployment compensation.

At yesterday's meeting were several representatives of the district internal revenue office in Columbus to answer questions of employers. A picture show, "Today's Frontiers," was also given.

AIR CIRCUS PLANS MADE AT AIRPORT

Equipment for July 4 Event To Be Completed Tomorrow.

Construction of a miniature fortress, a funeral pyre and other structures to be used in the European Air Circus and Thrill Show, sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, on the Fourth of July will be completed tomorrow at municipal airport.

A steel wire safety fence to keep the approximately 3,000 persons expected to attend from strolling into the flying field is also being erected, William Kuhn of Upper Sandusky, manager of the show, said.

The showing here will be the second for the air circus which appeared at Bucyrus recently where 1,500 persons attended.

Ten events are on the program including a bombardment of the fortress from the air, burning of a young woman on the funeral pyre, crashing an auto headlong through a board wall, airplane stunting by Col. Tommy Metcalf of Toledo, and various other air acrobatics.

Charles D. Fuller is general chairman of the show for the veterans. Members of the sponsoring group will be stationed at the airport as guards and to assist spectators. The show begins at 2 p. m.

SYNOPSIS: When Kay Lancaster's Lazy Nine ranch house and barn burn, Josh Hastings—who wants to buy the ranch and marry Kay—invites her to the Flying Nine. She refuses, distressing him, but young sister Babe and fund Kate go. The insurance money has to go to the mortgage, jolting Kay's plan to rebuild. Ted Capper, a puncher Kay hired impulsively, wins the outfit to cut its own lumber and rebuild with our pay. She is on her way to buy the only available timberland when Scrap Johnson, a Hastings puncher, insists he's leasing her roped on the mesa. Meanwhile Ted gets an option on the land for Kay.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

Rescue With Fury.

RESOLVING to get up on the open range, bonds or no bonds, Kay managed to edge painfully up the slope, using her elbows and knees to pull herself along.

The distance, which could have been covered in a few strides on foot, seemed endless when negotiated in this painful fashion. At last she reached the top and sank back, faint with exhaustion.

Opening her eyes, she could see the range stretching out in undulating waves to the horizon on the south and east; while to the north and west the mountains rose to intercept the vast sweep. There was not a sign of life. In a kind of stupor, Kay watched the flickering waves of heat that made the air seem to vibrate against the blue sky.

A merciful oblivion was stealing over her, when suddenly against the sky on the horizon to the south she saw outlined the silhouette of a horseman.

The first sickening dread that it might be Scrap Johnson passed with the realization that he wouldn't be riding so far to the south. Resolving that whoever the rider was, she would rather trust herself to him than to Johnson, Kay took fresh courage.

Strengthened by new hope, she struggled to her knees, gazing intently at the distant apparition. Unless she could stand up, there wasn't a chance that he could see her.

She edged her way over to a smooth boulder and, bracing herself against it, managed to pull herself up on her feet. As she wavered uncertainly, on the one foot that was in position to take a solid stand, her heart gave a great leap and a strangled cry beat against the muffling bandanna.

The horseman had come to a standstill! Spock as he was in the distance, Kay knew he was looking her way.

In an instinctive impulsive effort to jerk up her arms and signal to him, she lost her balance and slumped to the ground. Straining and panting, she tried again to get up. Her eyes never left the silhouetted figure.

She groaned with desperation as she saw him resume his way. Then her courage forsook her, and she gave in to the rushing black mist that enveloped her.

The Thud Of Hoofbeats

"Sleeping beauty, eh?"

Kay came to to realize that Scrap Johnson was standing over her. She kept her eyes closed as she summoned all her courage to meet the ordeal ahead. If she kept her wits about her, there might yet be some way out. The man must have some decency she could appeal to. But she mustn't show any fear.

He gave a low whistle. "I'll say you've done some traveling," he observed. "Kind of hard going, what?"

He stooped down and lowered her gag. "No point in covering up those red lips any longer," he laughed mockingly as he straightened up again. "Come on, Cutie. I know you're shamming. Open up those brown eyes of yours. I like to see 'em snap."

Kay opened her eyes and looked straight at him, without moving. All her will power was shining in their hypnotic depths, and, in spite of himself, Scrap Johnson gave an embarrassed laugh, and took a backward step.

"If you'll cut these bonds and ride away from here," Kay's voice was low and intent, as she held him with her gaze, "I'll agree to keep still about what's happened. That's your only chance to stay on this range and live."

For a moment he wavered. Then, with a hoarse laugh, he stooped down beside her, and put his arm around her.

"A bird in the hand's worth two in the bush," he gloated, breathing heavily. His eyes avoided hers and focused on her lips, and Kay felt a sick rush of terror.

In their absorption, neither had heard the thud of distant hoofbeats, but now at the same moment, they both became aware of them.

Scrap Johnson dropped Kay with an oath, sprang to his feet and seized his gun.

In the same instant, Kay kicked out fiercely against his shins, her bound feet catching him unawares and throwing him off his balance. He crashed to the ground, his gun exploding harmlessly in the air.

Through waves of blackness, Kay heard the pounding of hoofs and Ted Gaynor's voice calling, "Lie still! If you move you're a goner!"

Galvanized to life again by the miracle of hearing Ted's voice, Kay shrank away from the prone figure at her feet, that suddenly ceased struggling at the deadly threat behind Ted's command. With her heart in her throat she turned and gazed at the oncoming figure of her rescuer.

Taking in the situation at a glance, Ted pulled his mount to a sliding stop and slipped off. His eyes were fixed on Scrap Johnson, whom he kept covered with the gun Kay had given him.

A foot or two away from Johnson, his gun lay where it had fallen, just out of reach. Shifting his aim for one fraction of a second, Ted fired, shattering the gun to bits. Then he covered the man on the ground again before he had a chance to move.

"Get out of his reach, Kay," Ted called, without once taking his eyes off his victim. "I don't aim to have him try to use you as a shield!"

Kay obeyed without a word, dragging herself to one side.

"Now, get up, you!"

It seemed to Kay that she had never heard such controlled fury in any human voice.

After a moment's hesitation, the Flying Six puncher rose to his feet.

"Pitch 'em, and keep 'em there!"

With a snarl, he obeyed. Kay glanced fearfully from one man to the other.

"Turn around!" Ted's voice rang out again. As his prisoner obeyed he reached with his free hand for the rope on the pommel of his saddle. Stepping swiftly over to Scrap Johnson, he pressed his gun into his back, at the same time putting a loop around his raised hands. Jerking them down, he expertly trussed his arms to his sides, then tripped him and finished the job of hog-tieing him.

"A Second Lesson"

Leaving him where he had dropped, Ted strode over to Kay and, with quick, clean cuts of his knife, severed the ropes that bound her.

"Are you all right?" His breath came quickly, as he gazed anxiously into Kay's eyes.

She nodded, a tremulous, reassuring smile on her lips. "Yes, thanks to you."

Ted handed her her father's gun. "Take this, and if anything happens to me, you can protect yourself. But nothing will happen." His voice still vibrated with the same deadly fury.

"What are you doing to do?" Kay demanded.

"Much as I'd like to, I can't kill this cowardly coyote in cold blood if he hasn't harmed you; and I'm not going to drag him to the sheriff to have this noised about the range. So, I'm going to give him a second lesson he won't forget and if he ever shows up on the range again, I'll kill him!"

"No—no!" Kay cried in a terror-stricken voice. "Leave him bound and let's go!"

Without appearing to hear her, Ted stepped swiftly away, and called contemptuously to Scrap Johnson, "That's only a slip noose. Get yourself free and come take your lesson."

A look of mingled surprise and elation gleamed in Scrap Johnson's eyes as he strained against the ropes and felt them give. Shaking himself loose, he crouched for a moment, then made a rush for Ted, all the rage of his former defeat in his attack.

It seemed to Kay that it was hours instead of seconds that, heart in her mouth, she watched the struggle. Both men were slight in build, though Scrap Johnson had a decided advantage in weight and general physical fitness.

The indignity that Kay had suffered, however, added an invincible fury to Ted's attack that far outweighed any mere physical advantage.

Sidestepping his opponent's fist-swinging rush, he tore back at him with a blow that sent him staggering backwards. Recovering his balance, Scrap Johnson lowered his head with a roar of range and butted into Ted's stomach like a battering ram. But Ted countered with a swinging uppercut that found its mark.

Following up his advantage like one possessed, he landed one terrific punch after another, finally forcing his antagonist to his knees. Panting and blinking the sweat out of his eyes, Ted drew back and let the groggy puncher struggle to his feet.

Then Scrap Johnson put all he had left in a wild lunge. Ted saw his opportunity and drove a knock out blow to his chin.

Scrap's head snapped back with a sickening twist. Groaning he toppled to the ground and lay still.

Will Spanish Legend Make An El Cid of Fallen Mola?

(Editor's note: Here is another lead from the war notebook of Edward J. Neil, Associated Press correspondent with the Spanish insurgent army. Legend made "El Cid" a tower of strength in Spanish lore. Will Gen. Emilio Mola, too, go down in history as a great leader, even in death?)

* * *

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Writer

VITORIA, Spain, July 1 — A Spanish legend of the great 15th century chieftain El Cid relates that he was dead when he won the battle that freed Spain from the domination of the Moors.

The new legend of the present-day insurgent armies may be that Gen. Emilio Mola, one of her most brilliant young leaders, won with dead hands the battle of Bilbao. Gen. Mola died in an air crash just before the Basque capital was occupied. He had directed the campaign.

The legend of El Cid most romantic leader in Spain's history, runs something like this:

Only 24, handsome a magnificent young warrior and leader, El Cid led his armies against the Moors who swept in from Africa and held Spain for centuries.

El Cid was considered invulnerable by the Moors, impervious to sword cuts and thrusts of lances that smashed down more "mortal" knights.

That was in 1092 the year Columbus discovered America.

In a 15th century battle, El Cid was killed. The Moors scarcely could believe it as he fell from his horse. His own chieftains carried him from the field, and, panic-stricken thought of flight and the end of the war to free Spain.

But they staked their chances on a last star. They warmed the face of El Cid, put a fresh plume in his helmet, lashed his body upright on his horse and fixed his lance in the hollow of his dead arm.

Then as the Moors were gathering for the final triumphant charge, the Spaniards whipped El Cid's horse.

Thus though dead, he led the winning charge.

The Moors broke in confusion at the sight and lost Spain forever.

I'm not going to relax until they're ready to stay put."

Lillian Spoiling Her

I smiled to myself many times during the next ten minutes as the fresh young voices of Marion and Carolyn inquired the whereabouts of their belongings, and put numberless requests for trifles to Lillian.

But when they were finally "ready to stay put" before the dressing table, I found my amusement tinged with a vague resentment. It seemed to me that both girls were thoughtless in the demands they made of Lillian, although I knew that any such lack of consideration was her own fault, for she has done her best to spoil her daughter in the matter of waiting on her, while training her beautifully in all other respects.

"All through?" I asked in carefully casual fashion, as she came out on the veranda, shutting the door behind her, after closing the windows, and calling to the girls in explanation that it was getting cool, and that if they wished they could cut a match to the logs already laid in the fireplace.

"I hope so," she said, and then she chuckled.

Wants Her Advice

"Why don't you say what you think?" she queried. "I'm a fussy old hen, and I'm completely spoiling my one chick."

"She's your chick," I told her, smiling, "and what you do is certainly your own business. I have no comments, whatever, but I have a story to tell and advice to ask."

She looked at the closed door and windows, and nodded.

"Safe as a church," she said. "Go ahead, tell me all!"

"It's partly about Mary, and partly my own problem," I began.

"Spill yours first," she commanded. "Mary can wait."

I knew better than to demur, although I should have preferred the opposite arrangement. But Lillian, when putting her mind to a problem, is apt to be imperious, and I hurried into the story of Edith Fairfax, her letter, the contents of which I hastily skimmed over, keeping back some of the atrocious things Edith had written, and Dicky's odd request that I get into New York, where he could get hold of me at any minute if he should need me.

"Give me that letter," Lillian said peremptorily when I had finished.

CIRCUS PRINCESS AND HER COURT JESTERS

A princess royal of the Big Show is Antoinette Concello, aerial star, and here she is holding court with five of her jesters, quintet of clowns drawn from the ranks of the 150 funsters with the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus, coming to Marion Friday, July 9.

Antoinette is the pretty, graceful girl who does two-an-a-half somersault to a hand catch in the dome of the world's largest big top. She is declared to be the only woman ever to accomplish this feat, which is the feature trick of the Flying Concellos, the act in which Antoinette—Tony, to her friends—stars. In this act, too, there is Art Concello, said to be the only aerialist living who can perform the triple somersault to a hand-to-hand catch, but Art does it unannounced, for he realizes that Tony's outstanding feat has more appeal to the public.

Three troupes of the famous Concellos perform sensational mid-air somersaults simultaneously to the big flying-return display of the Greatest Show on Earth this season.

Eight hundred men and women circus performers from all over the world compete in the air, in the five rings, on the elevated stages and hippodrome track of the world's largest circus, which will exhibit at 2 and 8 p. m. The doors open one hour earlier to permit leisurely inspection of the mammoth menagerie.

152 NEW CARS SOLD IN COUNTY IN JUNE

Automobile Sales Show Decrease From Year Ago.

Sales of automobiles fell off last month from June of last year, Clerk of Courts Carl F. Haberman reported today. The total bills of sale issued for new passenger cars was 152 as compared with 159 in June, 1936.

The bills of sale for new trucks numbered 14 last month and 20 in June, 1936. The total of bills of sale for new and used cars was 1,069 as compared with 1,216 for the corresponding month last year.

Mr. Haberman said that until June, the daily number of bills of sale filed averaged 40 and that on some days last month only nine or 10 were issued.

The record for new passenger cars in June still stands at 211, set in 1929. Last year's new truck total was a record as was the total number of bills of sale issued.

Travis, Kenaston Matched On Monday Wrestle Card

In keeping with the Fourth of July, wrestling fans may anticipate plenty of fireworks on next week's grappling bill to be held Monday night at the outdoor arena on Uncapher avenue. To headline the holiday card, Ted Travis of Hollywood, Calif., is paired with the ex-marine sergeant, Bob Kenaston of Silver City, Ore.

In the second feature bout, also over the 90-minute time limit with two falls to win, Teddy Watters of Gallup, N. M., is paired with Cecil McGill of Long Beach, Calif. The holiday bill will be completed with a 20-minute preliminary, to open the program at 8:30 o'clock.

Travis, who has become the cynosure for all eyes of the Marion mat addicts since his recent appearance here, will be in for a tough workout against the ex-marine. The Californian has split in a pair of bouts with Joe Hubka, the aclator expert from Nebraska, in his most recent appearance here. Although Travis lost the first battle with Hubka by disqualification, fans gave him credit for being far out in front largely through his rough tactics.

Last week the mean man from Hollywood scored a decisive victory over Hubka in seemingly easy fashion, but the win didn't help his standing with Marion fans. He still is a tough hombre in the ring and those who have seen him in action will be backing the sergeant to tame him. Sergeant Kenaston, who has been here for several weeks, can take care of himself in the roughest of company.

Kenaston's one failing from the standpoint of fans, is his practice of absorbing too much rough stuff before opening his own barrage of retaliation. Depending upon the amount of rough stuff he absorbs from Travis, Kenaston should be able to more than hold his own against the Californian. Fans are looking forward to the possibility that Kenamon will rely on his favorite means of gaining a fall, his airplane spin and slam, in the meeting with Travis.

Kenaston will have a tough assignment in trying to hoist the 200-pound frame of his scrappy opponent over his head and spinning him into dizziness. The bout should provide plenty of action as the finale for the weekly program. The second main go however, judging from previous performances of the participants, should be a clean and fast scrap.

Teddy Watters, as clever a leg wrestler as any that have appeared in the Marion ring recently, will try his best efforts against another scientific grappler, the red-headed Cecil McGill. McGill, too, is fast with his legwork and the participants are evenly matched for the encounter. Watters, by his superior headwork combined with a veteran's experience, won in two consecutive falls in a match with Honey Boy Hackney last week. McGill, well-known to Marion fans has been seen in the ring here during the past several months.

LOCALS FALL FOUR FULL GAMES BELOW LEADING RED SOX

Rivalry To Be Renewed Tonight: Third Game in Series Saturday.

With every bad break and discouraging element of baseball working against them, Marion Ohio State league players lost valuable ground to the Mansfield Red Sox when they were routed by Manager Dewey Stover's aggregation 23 to 2, at Mansfield, yesterday afternoon.

At the top of Marion's list of bad breaks was the loss of Manager Chapple Geygan in the fourth inning when the Marion chief questioned Umpire Cooke's ruling on an alleged balk. Marion played the game under protest from that point and may get to play the game over. Geygan charged Schneidmuller, of the Red Sox with a balk, contending he dropped the ball while winding up.

With Geygan out of the contest, Spence, a pitcher, was sent to center field and Karl Kauffman, the center-fielder was played at Geygan's second base post.

Johnny Brich started on the hill for Marion and set the Red Sox down in the first inning. In the second frame he couldn't find the plate and gave up seven runs on several walks and a couple of base hits before being relieved by Van Bergen who retired the side without further damage.

Manager Stover's men failed to score in the third but tallied runs in every inning from then on in as they rained hits off the offerings of Van Bergen.

Although the official score sheet as compiled by Bob Evans, business manager of the Mansfield club, gives Marion but one error, there were numerous miscues turned in by the Marion club that went for hits. Buster Stiewe and Stan Platek both had bad days in the field.

Tonight the locals will journey to Mansfield again and will attempt to square matters with the league leaders. Either Lefty Spence or Gene Morris will take the mound for Marion.

By losing to Mansfield last night Marion fell to four full games behind the pace-setting Red Sox, which is the lowest that they have been so far this season.

Home runs in the second inning by First Baseman Ebranyi and Right Fielder Speas provided the ammunition that enabled Lefty Mandreger of Tiffin to win a pitchers' battle over Findlay yesterday, 2 to 0. Until the ninth, only one Findlay runner got as far as second base. The Browns got two on with none out in the ninth and the next three batters went out in order. Mandreger limited Findlay to four hits, three of them by Ray Sparr, right fielder.

With Slim Berry pitching shutout ball, the Fostoria Red Birds hung up their sixth triumph in 32 games, by defeating Fremont, 3 to 0, on the latter team's home grounds yesterday afternoon. Berry walked eight batters but kept the four clean hits well scattered.

CATCHER RICK WILL HELP THE SENATORS' NURSERY--

-RICK-
THE BACK-SLAPPING HARRIS MAY BE ABLE TO HANDLE THE TEMPERAMENTAL WES--

Wes and Rick Ferrell, baseball's most famous brother battery, seem to be marching along together through the American League. They were both traded to the Washington Senators recently after playing a couple of years together with the Boston Red Sox.

The temperamental Wesley, once the leading right hander of the loop, is still a great pitcher when he's in the mood. Joe Cronin, Boston boss, evidently couldn't handle the big fellow, so he was forced to put him on the market.

The suave Bucky Harris, a back-slapping manager, should get much better results. Wes gave evidence of liking the change right off the reel, turning several beautifully-pitched games in his first Washington stints.

Rick Ferrell, the catching half of the brother battery, is more dependable. He's a darn good receiver, and isn't temperamental. Rick will solve Washington's backstop problem, and should aid the Nat's pitching staff with his brainy work behind the bat.

COLUMBUS TRIUMPHS OVER ST. PAUL WITH MACON'S 1-HIT BALL

Red Bird Hurler Wins Twelfth Game To Cinch Third Place.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 2—Max Macon of Columbus, one of the big reasons why the Red Birds are making their American association rivals sit up and take notice, had as many pitching victories to his credit for the current season today as he had during all of the 1935 campaign.

Macon won his 12th game last night, and it was not only his best performance of the year but one of the most masterful jobs of Association hurling in several seasons. He held the St. Paul Saints to one hit, enabling the Red Birds to win 2 and 1 and sweep the four-game series. The victory tightened Columbus's hold on third place.

Macon last season won 12 and lost 12. To date this year he has lost but six games.

Another brilliant pitching performance was turned in by Garland Braxton of Indianapolis, who let Milwaukee down with four hits as the Indians blanked the Brewers 2 to 0.

Minneapolis took over the circuit leadership by downing Toledo 9 to 5 in a wild slugging match which went 12 innings. The Mud Hens scored three runs to tie the game up in the last of the ninth but the Millers came back with two runs in the 12th, and the Hens could score only one in their half of the final frame.

Kansas City slapped a 12 to 2 defeat on Louisville, with the losers using five hurlers against a 16-hit Kansas City offense.

Knot Hole Club for Young Fans To Be Formed

Underway here at the present time are plans for the organization of a "Knot-Hole" club. Restrictions for membership to the club are expected to be announced within several days, but here's a brief preview of the activities of the organization.

The roster is open only to youngsters, and all of them will be admitted without charge to Thursday baseball games at Lincoln park. They will be the guests of the management to a special section of seats especially reserved for them, R. R. Thompson, owner of the Marion team said today.

At present youth leaders in the city are working on the formation of the group and hope to have the club functioning for the next Thursday game at home to be played July 9 when the Fostoria Red Birds visit Lincoln park.

Baseball notables, including Branch Rickey, head of the St. Louis Cardinal farm system, are expected to be among those present when Portsmouth fans turn out tonight for the presentation of 1936 batting trophies to First Baseman Ed Zipay, a member of the Fostoria team in the Ohio State league last year.

Zipay led all regulars in organized baseball last summer when he batted .419 for Fostoria. He will receive two handsome trophies—the full-size Louisville Slugger sterling silver bat and the Spalding silver cup. The former is open to any hitter in the organized baseball, while the latter goes to the first year man with the best average. Zipay is the first to win them both.

* * *

The hand of Fate in the sports world brings about many odd situations—one of them the story of Virgil Feeney, Fostoria's right-hand hurler, who a year ago almost single-handed whipped Fostoria high's basketball team to the semi-finals of the district tournament at Defiance, and today is out there pitching to win for Fostoria's Ohio State league baseball club.

In the basketball game, played March 12, 1936, Feeney's home high school, Defiance, nosed out Fostoria, 31 to 30 in the district cage semi-finals. Feeney played a star role in the game scoring 20 of his team's points.

* * *

Ted Swed, Marion's first baseman, is one-time teammate of Phil Cavarretta, infielder of the Chicago Cubs. The two were members of a Chicago American Legion Junior team which in 1933 won the national championship in the final play-off at New Orleans. Five other members of the same Junior Legion club are also playing minor league baseball.

* * *

Harry Walker, a brother of the well-known Fred "Dixie" Walker, outfielder of the Chicago White Sox, is following in his brother's footsteps. Harry Walker covers the centerfield lot for the Tiffin Mud Hens.

CAMP CLOSED BY GIRL SCOUTS

Special Program Yesterday and Last Night Concludes Vernon Heights Outing.

Fifty Marion Girl Scouts ended their stay in the Abigail Harding Lewis camp in Vernon Heights with an all-day program yesterday and last night. The camp was under the direction of Miss Marguerite Hill.

The closing program began yesterday at 9 a. m. with an Indian Thanksgiving feast, the Navajo tribe presenting games and relays from 10 to 11:30 and the Hopi tribe entertaining the group at lunch. Corsages were furnished, while menu items were klondikes and "soonemores," sandwiches of chocolate and marshmallow, toasted between graham wafers.

An archery tournament opened the afternoon program, with Mary Jane Llewellyn winning first honors, Jean Thompson second and Marjorie Ebert third. Indian dances by the Wyandot tribe closed the program. All the scouts except first and second class Navajos and Hopis broke camp, the latter remaining there overnight. Miss Hill and Miss Elric Jane Knapp were leaders of the group staying overnight. A chili supper was served. A breakfast of pancakes was prepared this morning on tin-can stoves made by the girl scouts in the pioneering class, which was directed by Miss Emily Wolfel.

Visitors' night was held Wednesday, with a supper and campfire for guests, starting at 5:30 p. m. A handicraft exhibit was held and members of the nature study group labeled the trees in the vicinity. The campfire program consisted of songs learned in camp, a hat style show by the Navajos, wearing hats made of grass and wild flowers, a caribou dance by the Wyandots dramatization of an Indian legend by the Navajos, a Zuni Indian song by the Hopis, who also dramatized an original story by Miss Lucille Stuckey and danced an Indian Thanksgiving ritual. The scout goodnight circle and taps closed the program.

"THE WAY OF LIFE" IS SERMON TOPIC

Asserting that, "There are many who travel the broad way of life and only a few who travel the narrow way," Dr. Peter Wiseman talked on the subject, "The Way of Life," in his sermon at the Oakland church revival services last night. His text was taken from Matthew 7:14.

He said, "The broad way leads to hell, the narrow way leads to heaven. In the broad way there is no self-denial, no struggle, no effort, one just goes with the crowd. In the narrow way there is the new birth, the joy of walking with God."

The Young Men's Gospel quartet of Marion college, Marion, Ind., presented two numbers. The quartet will take part in the services at 7:30 tonight. Three persons responded to altar call. Rev. M. J. Temple of Upper Sandusky led the opening prayer. Dr. Wiseman will preach three services Sunday, at 10:30 a. m. and 2:30 and 7:30 p. m.

SEES MILLS OPEN BY NEXT WEEK

By The Associated Press

EAST CHICAGO, Ind., July 2—Thomas R. Hutson, Indiana state labor commissioner, said today his "personal opinion" was that a truce would be reached soon providing for reopening of the strikebound Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. Calumet district plants "sometime next week."

The commissioner made the statement while waiting to hear from Frank Purnell, president of the Youngstown company, for his reaction to a report on a conference yesterday.

It came as opposing groups of Youngstown workers received reports of plans to reopen the Indiana Harbor Youngstown mill employing 7,000.

In a statement at Youngstown, Purnell said he was preparing a letter to Chicago district employes, to be released later in the day.

"The letter will state that Inland Steel did not sign any agreement, (the East Chicago plant of Inland opened yesterday under a truce arranged by Gov. M. Clifford Townsend of Indiana) contract or pact and that we are not going to sign anything."

BIBLE PUPILS TO GIVE PROGRAM

The close of the daily vacation Bible school of the First Reformed church will be marked by a program at the church tonight at 7:30 p. m. Rev. John W. Heistand will be in charge. Nearly 70 pupils ended their work in the school today, after three weeks of classes.

Demonstrations of work done will be given by each class in the program tonight. About 60 pupils will take part, demonstrating handiwork, Bible study work, and other phases of the school work. The public is invited.

PROGRAM GIVEN AT SOCIETY MEETING

Mrs. Mary Butz entertained the Ladies Aid society of the Salem Evangelical church at her home on Forest street yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Aaron Schultz led the opening devotionals and Rev. H. C. Ahrens led in prayer. A paper on "Missions in Japan" was read by Mrs. Herman Gehring, and a reading was given by Mrs. Caroline Cull. Mrs. Wilbur Maffett presented a bouquet of poppies in memory of her mother, Mrs. Theresa Rieff and Mrs. Harry Kull also presented flowers. Visitors were Mrs. Andrew Kull, Miss Marguerite Gehring, Mrs. Harry Kull and Mrs. Harry Hoch. Mrs. Harry Kull and Mrs. Hoch assisted the hostess in serving refreshments.

YOUNG VACATIONIST ORDERED FROM CITY

Fines Suspended Provided They Travel On.

Ten "vacation" of five youthful Akronites one of them a girl, and the others boys ranging from 17 to 21 years of age, apparently ended abruptly here yesterday when each pleaded guilty in municipal court to charges of train riding. Each was fined $10 and costs by Municipal Judge Martin, which was suspended under the condition that they leave the city immediately.

The five, Dick Campbell, 17, Earl Rife, 20, Paul Sullivan 19, Robert Dean, 21, and the girl, Doris Dean, 21, who claimed to be Roberts wife were arrested by police at 9:30 a. m. yesterday when they were found loitering near Main and Mill streets, after admittedly making the trip here on a freight train. The group told officers they were "just taking a trip."

GALION PARK LIGHTS TO BE READY SOON

Installation Likely To Be Complete Within Next Three Weeks.

Special to The Star

GALION, July 2—It is probable that the installation of flood lights at Heise park over the athletic field will be completed within the next three weeks.

Park committees and interested citizens meeting Thursday night at the city building to select equipment and formulate plans for installation of the lights, expect to sign a contract for the lights within a few days if the contract conforms to specifications of local officials. It is expected that a contract will be returned here within a few days after it has been made out by a lighting equipment firm.

Park committees recently raised more than $2,500 to purchase the lights.

B. degree from Ohio university in 1925.

TRAFFIC ACCIDENT

Cars driven by Miss Marjorie Bindley of 574 East Center street and Carl Haycox of 463 Jefferson street and a parked truck belonging to the Anthony Laundry Co., figured in a minor traffic collision in the uptown section on East Center street yesterday about 5:25 p. m., according to a police report. Miss Bindley was westbound and Haycox was headed the opposite direction and the truck was parked at the north side of the street, it was reported. The rear of the Bindley car and the right rear fender of the truck were damaged.

She had been visiting with relatives in Findlay and Toledo, since she left her, authorities said.
